May Shelve Tariff Following Charges Made by Caraway

Attack on Senators Who Are Personally Interested in Wool Industry Hurts Bill's Chances.

REPUBLICANS FEAR EFFECT AT POLLS

Indications Are That the Measure Will Be Ditched in Conference Until After November Elections.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, July 31.—(By Constitution Bureau.)—As a result of the Caraway resolution Saturday demanding an investigation into the alleged interest of certain senators in the wool schedules the outstanding probability at the capital tonight is that the Forney-McCumber tariff bill, even though passed by the senate, will be allowed to die in conference. Those who have followed the situation believe that political wisdom, if nothing else, will dictate this course.

Saturday's sensational charges are regarded as the severest blow yet delivered to the bill, which experts say will add $200,000,000 a year to clothing costs in America. And for a small group of western senators, a number of whom admit their interest in the wool industry, to assume the leadership in fighting the high wool rates proposed has made the affair a national scandal, designed to do the tariff more harm in the eyes of the public than anything yet to arise.

Administration leaders are clearly up in the air over the charges. Nothing, it is said, in a number of years has acted to create such an embarrassing position, which is regarded as serious in republican circles. To withdraw the scheduled at this late date would be an admission that some one had "fixed" the finance committee, it is claimed, to permit the rates to hold would result in the charges being denounced in the elections. All of which makes the situation very complex for republicans.

To Reiterate Charge.

Opponents of the measure, realizing this, intend to bring the subject up at an early date and to keep pounding away on this feature of the bill, charging that it is a specific example of how the measure was written and why it should not be accepted by the public.

In view of these facts, republicans are trying to find a way to get out. Although majority members have been under fire ever since the tariff was brought up in the senate, at no time have they faced such charges as those developing during the past few days. Troubled republican leaders have held several conferences, it is said, trying to decide upon some course which will relieve the situation. So far no announcement has been made other than from several of the senators involved in the charges who in order to protect themselves have declared their willingness to have the investigation conducted.

Fear Disaster at Polls.

But criticism of the tariff has grown to such a degree throughout the country until it seems certain that administration leaders will not let the matter drop as it is. Grave fears of political disaster in the coming election have prompted them to take drastic steps to save the party, and it is reasonably certain that plans in this direction are being formulated.

Political observers have it that the tariff will not be permitted to come before the polls this year as a full issue. This will be effected by delaying final enactment until after November, or by instructing the house and senate conferees not to make an immediate adjustment of the amendment.

This Lady's Views About Marriage Seem Sweeping

"No Happy Marriages—Tut, Tut, Jane, You're On the Bias."

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER, United News Staff Correspondent.
New York, July 31.—As a veteran of two matrimonial failures and the author of a book which has hopes of being suppressed into prominence, Miss Jane Burr, a feminist of forty, daughter of a St. Louis millionaire named Guggenheim, speaks a few words of advice on love and the somewhat related topic of marriage. She is about to sail for England where she is best known, on a cruise of the world, in the course of which the shop-girl of London and the trial wife of the remote Tropic island, will doubtless hear that God has failed as a matchmaker.

Confessing that both of her own attempts were botched in the end, Miss Burr might seem to be an incompetent authority. But she says she has kept her ears open and, if she should ever tell a portion of what wives in St. Louis and Chicago have told her, there'd be no end of a scandal—secrets about the technically virtuous state of being wherein husbands and wives are only practically faithful.

Anybody Can Knock.

Anyway, it doesn't take an expert to criticize a duffer's game. Branch Rickey was the worst ballplayer ever waived out of the American league, yet he is keeping the Cardinals up there where the pennant is to be won. William Jennings Bryan can sell articles on success and Jess Willard sometimes speaks of sportsmanship. It was Miss Burr's novel, "The Passionate Spectator," which was just recently favored with the unfriendly attention of New York reform agents, after it had received somewhat the same sort of helpful notice in London, where it was first published. Her "Letters of a Dakota Divorcee" and "The Glorious Hope" also evoked what is known as "comment" and her new novel, "That Woman," gives promise of similar vitality.

If Miss Burr's friends are typical American "nice people," the divorce courts which already seem so busy, haven't even started their work.

Somebody's Kidding Jane.

"Marriage is a failure not only with me, who admit it, but with every other woman I know, none of whom will admit it," she said. Naming no names, she went on to state that she has had intimate confidential discussions with women, not one of whom is truly happy, all lacking the true friendship of their respective daddies. She insists, too, that her friends are of exactly the class the American regards as "nice people."

"Scandinavia—Sweden, Norway and Denmark—have finally recognized," Miss Burr said, "that God doesn't make perfect matches, so hereafter these states will not recognize marriage as anything but an official matter of record. John simply agrees to live with Mary and Mary to live with John. They get married so that the government can keep track of its people—so that the mail won't go astray, for instance. If either tires of the marriage, it's easy to get a divorce. It's a fine system."

Are Men Sincere?

"And yet, for the present, I am advising young girls who come to me for advice, to get married. Because women in general have not yet learned what I have learned—to suppress the desire for wifehood and to turn that desire to some constructive work which in my case is writing. The world is backward and women still need the meal ticket, but philosophers who have studied the matter as I have, agree that the time is coming when marriage will simply be the recording of a promise between two people to live together as long as it is mutually agreeable. The world being backward, I suspect that any man who asks a girl to become his unmarried wife, is not sincere."

Shrine in Charge Rotary Program At Capital City

Weekly Luncheon Announced for Chamber Changed to Club.

Because of a misunderstanding in arrangements, the weekly luncheon of the Atlanta Rotary club, announced for the chamber of commerce, has been changed to the Capital City club at 12:30 o'clock today.

The Shrine, under the direction of Frank Cundell, will be in charge of the program, which, according to officials of the club, is one of the most interesting in the history of the organization. Chantings, songs and general jollifications will be the order of the day, which is expected to draw out a 100 per cent attendance.

All members of the club, as well as invited guests, are urged to be on hand at the Capital City club at 12:30 o'clock sharp as a full program has been arranged. Perry Blackstone will make a talk, describing the principles of Rotary to the Shrine, many of whom will be invited guests. This will be the only part the club will have in the program.

FIRST FIGHT WON BY SUPPORTERS OF PEACH COUNTY

House Votes Down Adverse Report of Committee by 69-37 and Places Measure on Calendar.

WILLIAMS REPLIES TO BLALOCK CHARGES

By Unanimous Vote, House Thanks Savannah Residents for Entertainment on Week-End.

Supporters of the bill creating Peach county won a strategic victory in the house at the afternoon session of that body Monday when the house voted to disagree to an adverse report of the committee on constitutional amendments and to place the bill on the calendar. This action on the Peach county matter and a renewal of a fight on the state highway department by Representative McMichael, of Marion, were outstanding developments of the house sessions. Members of the legislature returned to Atlanta Monday morning after spending two days inspecting the port conditions at Savannah. The first action taken by the members Monday morning was to vote to hold two sessions daily until the business before the house is finished.

Williams Replies.

Early in the session Monday Representative Williams, of Walton, arose to a point of personal privilege and replied to charges made against him by A. O. Blalock in a letter published in Atlanta newspapers. Mr. Williams said his statement recently in connection with the rumor that Governor Hardwick was preparing to appoint Mr. Blalock to the position of state auditor had been misunderstood. He said he simply asked one of the members of the committee a question and in this question mentioned the rumor which was in circulation that the governor was preparing to name Mr. Blalock to the position of state auditor in the event the bill creating that position was passed.

"We are in the middle of a bad fix as members of this legislature when the governor's political henchmen can fly off any minute and impugn the motives of the members of this legislature. They have already charged us with being men without character and I say the time has come for us to cease tolerating it," he said.

Mr. Williams declared the Blalock charges that he was once connected with the state department of agriculture were erroneous.

"I have no connection of any kind with the state department of agriculture," he said. The Peach county fight developed at the afternoon session of the house, Representative Houser, of Houston, led the forces favoring the passage of senate bill No. 1, which is the Peach county measure. Each side was allowed ten minutes to debate. The opponents of the bill were Representatives Robertson, of Macon, and Greene, of Jones. Representative Houser spoke for the measure. By a vote of 69 to 37 the report of the committee was voted down and the bill was placed on the calendar. It will come up for a third reading and passage in its regular turn. Being a constitutional amendment a two-thirds vote of the house is necessary before it can be passed.

Tax Fight Tuesday.

The way was cleared Monday for the fight over the repeal of the tax equalization law which probably will develop Tuesday. Those favoring the repeal of this law are confident they will win when a vote is taken. It is also stated they will join with the forces seeking to impose an income tax and that this tax measure has a good chance of passing in the house.

Representative McMichael sought Monday to have a bill passed providing that 90 per cent of the motor vehicle fund be taken away from the state highway department and be distributed among the counties of the state. Representative Mann, of Glynn, opposed the bill, declaring it would destroy the usefulness of the state highway department. After a sharp debate between Representative Mann and Representative McMichael the bill was referred to the highway committee. Representative McMichael sought to have the bill referred to the house as a committee of the whole but his motion was defeated. A resolution was adopted unanimously carrying with it the thanks of the members of the house to the people of Savannah for the entertainment provided for them Saturday and Sunday.

WOMAN IS APPOINTED ARKANSAS SHERIFF

Little Rock, Ark., July 31.—Mrs. Willie Clara Murphy, of Arkansas City, was appointed sheriff and tax collector of Desha county today by Governor McKas to succeed the late Sheriff G. E. Lacy, who died last week. Mrs. Murphy, who was chief deputy in Sheriff Lacy's office, is the first woman ever appointed to serve as sheriff in Arkansas. She is a widow.

American Gives "Movie" Glimpse Of Europe Today

Thumbnail Sketches of Factors in European Life as Seen by Tourist.

New York, July 31.—Exchange—Has supplemented the weather and politics as a topic of conversation everywhere. The Germans—Just as cocky as ever, and in Munich sometimes more so. The French—Think Americans should not require the payment of their political position; not inclined to back down anywhere. Pouting because Americans can't see their viewpoint. Nervous about the future. Don't know what will happen, but afraid of it no matter what it is. The Russians—Playing politics all the time and for all they are worth; not knowing to anyone. Expect to win out on the diplomatic checkerboard.

The Dutch.

The Dutch—dot safely through the war but are having their own little problems in the East Indies, where nationalistic movements are starting in their colonies.

The British—Anxious for an American entente cordial.

The Italians—More friendly with the German than ever before. Troubles largely internal and of the industrial disturbance variety.

PRIMARIES TODAY IN FOUR STATES

Voters Will Select Many Candidates in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Virginia.

St. Louis, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Missouri tomorrow, in its first primary in which women will participate, will select candidates for United States senator, congressmen and state, county and city officers. The republican, democratic, socialist and socialist-labor parties have tickets in the field. Polling places in the 3,848 precincts will open at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Voting will be on strip ballots, under rules requesting the voter to draw a line through the name of every candidate not voted for, instead of putting a cross before the name of his choice. The republican ballot in St. Louis is six feet long and carries the names of 210 primary candidates, in addition to 52 committeemen.

The democratic ballot contains 105 candidates and 54 committeemen. Interest in the primary in Missouri has been overshadowed by the campaign by Senator Reed and Breckinridge Long, third assistant secretary of state under President Wilson, for the democratic senatorial nomination. Robert I. Young, a third candidate not making an active campaign.

The league of nations, the war, prohibition, home rule, party regularity and many other subjects have been invoked in the Reed-Long fight. Reed, who has declared he has never lost in a campaign has been the center of the storm. "Rid-us-of-Reed" clubs, and "Win-with-Reed" organizations have sprung up and other issues have almost been lost sight of in this controversy. On the republican ballot there are six candidates for senator. Jess W. Barrett, state attorney-general and an avowed progressive; David M. Proctor, of Kansas City, an admitted enemy of the old guard; and John

COMMITTEE O. K. GIVEN TO STATE FORESTER BILL

Measure Is Intended to Assist in Development and Conservation of Georgia Timber Resources.

SENATOR GOLUCKE ASKS SPECIAL TAX AGENTS

Urges Appointment in Effort to Uncover Invisible Property—Jury Duty for Women Urged.

Capital Removal Hearing.
A public hearing on the capital removal bill will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon before the senate constitutional amendments committee. This is one of the most important bills pending in the assembly, and each side of the capital removal controversy is expected to have representation at the hearing.

Creation of the office of state forester for Georgia received unanimous sanction of the senate agricultural committee acting Monday afternoon on a bill by Senators Ellis, Mills and others.

This action, introduction by Senator Alvin Golucke of a resolution empowering Governor Hardwick to appoint four special tax agents to uncover invisible property for taxation, and a bill by Senator Bond, of the 30th, to permit women of Georgia to serve as jurors, were principal features of the senate session Monday.

The forestry bill is designed to encourage forestation, the development and conservation of the state's timber resources. The measure calls for the employment of an experienced forester, who will be appointed by the state board of forestry and act under its direction.

Laid on the Table.
Senator Golucke's resolution was laid on the table for a day under the senate rules. It gives the governor authority to appoint the special agents on commission basis with full power to ferret out intangible properties not returned for taxation, make collections and file a report with the governor's office.

In cases where difficulty is experienced in collecting unpaid taxes on invisible property, such as mortgages, notes, securities and the like, the special agents would have authority to employ counsel and bring suits for the amounts due.

Senator Bond announced that he would insist upon early action on his bill giving to women the privilege of jury duty. The bill is a constitutional measure, and if passed by both houses and approved by the governor, would then have to be voted on by the people.

In the senate Tuesday a bill will be introduced by Senator Howell Cone, prohibiting the trapping of fish in wire or other kind of trap, in any Georgia fresh water stream. He said that the trappers will sooner or later practically exterminate the fish if they are not stopped.

Favors Limit on Debate.
At 11 o'clock Monday morning the senate recessed for half an hour while the rules committee met. That body reported unfavorably the resolution by Senator Nix to limit debates on all bills to one and one-half hour to each side and limiting individual speeches to 15 minutes.

The committee also voted down the resolution of Senator L. C. Brown to have his bill abolishing the bureau of markets placed on the calendar as a special and continuing order for Tuesday for the purpose of disagreeing with the report of the agricultural committee, which recommended that the bill do not pass.

Uproar motion by Senator Dents Fleming his bill placing the hotels of Georgia under supervision of the state board of health was tabled. The author stated that there being barely a quorum of members present he would prefer to call up the bill for passage later in the session.

At Senator Manson's request the employment agencies bill was recommended to the committee on finance and appropriations for another hearing. Senator Walker was the author of a bill to abolish the office of attorney to the highway commission.

"GRANDPA" GOLFER DYING AS RESULT OF AUTO ACCIDENT

San Francisco, July 31.—Herbert Hamilton Brown, millionaire insurance broker of San Francisco, suffered fatal injuries, and John Black, of Oakland, nationally known golfer, was injured so seriously that attending physicians believe he will die as the result of an automobile accident near Irvington, in Alameda county, tonight. Brown died in a San Jose hospital, where he was taken with Black.

Expect Settlement Of Shopmen Strike At Meetings Today

FEDERAL CONTROL OF NATION'S COAL IN FORCE MONDAY

Possibility of Separate Settlement in Some Mining Districts Rumored in Washington.

BUT OFFICIALS DOUBT CHANCES OF SUCCESS

Some Operators Have Long Been Willing to Concede Demands, But Others Balk.

Washington, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—With the federal emergency coal control machine piloted by Fuel Distributor Spencer under way the possibility that negotiation for a separate wage settlement between the miners' union and some operators in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana bituminous fields might be instituted this week, was strongly indicated here tonight.

Representatives of the various government departments and operators co-operating under the administration's distribution plan started on the initial problems facing operation of the scheme, such as organization of regional committees and formation of coal pools.

In Cleveland, it was understood, a meeting is to be held Monday looking to the settlement of the strike in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

Success Doubtful.
How extensive such a partial settlement would be, or whether such a conference, lacking a considerable number of the larger employers would be successful at all remained a question in official and semi-official view.

Ever since the strike began, some operators have expressed willingness to negotiate with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and the scale committees of the unions.

The controlling majority in most operators' associations has been unwilling, however, to concede the union's demands for a semi-national wage scale, made up by a joint action of the employers and employees in the four states and have also been unwilling to concede the wage scale of 1920, with its $7.50 daily wage base for common labor underground.

Prices Soaring.
Soaring prices of coal, due to shortage, is said to have made the higher wage scale acceptable at least while the market lasts, though heads of the larger mining enterprises outside of Ohio insist as a settlement giving the men the wartime scales against would only allow a few months of operation, followed by shut-downs because the non-union coal would throw the output bearing higher overhead cost out of the markets.

Ohio coal operators associations are said to have been made a nucleus about which Mr. Lewis was forming an interstate group with whom he would shortly attempt to negotiate a wage scale.

It was declared today that a representation of operators from the three states other than Ohio in the conference.

ATLANTAN DIES IN YELLOW RIVER

Searching Party Drags Bed of River to Recover Body of L. Gordon Houseworth.

A searching party dragged the bed of the Yellow river, near Oxford, Ga., Monday night for the body of L. Gordon Houseworth, Atlanta jewelry salesman, who was drowned sometime Monday afternoon while seining in the river with a number of companions, according to reports received late last night.

Houseworth had been employed by the E. A. Morgan company, local jeweler, for about 10 years. He was married and lived at 180 South avenue. He is said to have gone to Oxford Saturday to visit his wife's relatives. Atlanta relatives of the missing man could not secure detailed information Monday as to the reported drowning. Houseworth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Houseworth, of Moreland, Ga.

Harding Plan Is Considered by Executives in New York and Men in Chicago.

STRIKERS EXPECTED TO ACCEPT PROPOSAL

But There Is Some Doubt Whether Eastern Executives Will Approve Seniority Compromise.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, July 31.—Convinced that the railroad strike would be a matter of history within 24 hours after acceptance by railway shopmen and transportation chiefs of President Harding's compromise plan, all of the government's influence was mustered tonight behind the effort to obtain adoption by the employers' meeting in New York and that of the employees' in Chicago tomorrow.

Chairman Hooper, of the railroad labor board, after a conference with President Harding today left for Chicago to be on hand when the meeting is called of the general policy committee of the striking shopcraft unions. Secretary Hoover left tonight to attend the New York meeting of the executives.

There was little doubt in administration circles concerning acceptance by the union leaders of the proposed compromise settlement. Several railroad executives, however, are known to hold strong objection because of their belief that it would entail abandonment of loyal workmen who have stayed on the job as well as new men.

Optimism Prevails.
Personal friends and senatorial advisers of the president were strong in their conviction that this objection would be more than offset by those executives who would accept the compromise, whether as a fair basis for settling the controversies or because of their conviction that acceptance was required as a patriotic step.

Optimistic forecast of action to be expected from the New York meeting was based on more than a little extent, it was indicated, on the belief that T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the executives' association and Vice President Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania, representatives of an influential group in the management side of the rail controversy would vote for a compromise.

The sticking point in the whole attempt to negotiate a settlement, the seniority rights so-called, continued to protrude in every conversation and public statement of the leaders concerned, with as much awkwardness as ever even considering the president's suggestions for its compromise.

Managements of several of the larger systems which now claim to have the strike beaten, have insisted that restoring the strikers, even though they accept the decreased pay and abrogation of favorable rules, would mean the dismissal of many competent men employed since the strike. It would further mean displacement of men who have stuck by the railroads and who have since received promised promotions.

Union Demand.
On the union side it was held that no settlement would be made by the organizations unless it took care of all their men. That meant that all railroads had to put the agreement into effect and that all strikers on each road had to be taken back.

Advisers to the president had it that the executives of the larger systems who have publicly stated their positive refusal to take back the strikers on a seniority basis were willing in advance of tomorrow's meeting to say to associates that while they thought the policy wrong they could not persist in refusing to accept a plan devised by the government.

These advisers were hopeful that a resolution would be passed by the executives' session declaring such a pro-

WWJ, Detroit News, Praises WGM on Constitution Orchestra

WWJ, the radio broadcasting station of The Detroit News, the first radio station to have its own orchestra, has telegraphed its congratulations to WGM, the radio broadcasting station of The Atlanta Constitution, on the signing of Warner's Seven Aces as The Atlanta Constitution orchestra. The Constitution is the second newspaper broadcasting agency in America to present its own orchestra to radio listeners.

In its telegram to WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, WWJ, The Detroit News, says:

"Station WWJ, The Detroit News, congratulates Station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution, on the debut Sunday night of The Atlanta Constitution orchestra. Your enterprise in inaugurating a regular radio orchestra for the service of the people is greatly commended. Please put us on your mailing list for regular programs to be printed here so that Detroit people may have the pleasure of listening for your orchestra. The Atlanta Constitution is heard very clearly on good receiving sets here.

"WWJ, THE DETROIT NEWS."

The Atlanta Constitution orchestra will give its first formal concert next Monday night when it begins its regular schedule.

cedure was contrary to the best judgment of the necessities of the situation, but in view of the responsibility of the president, they would accede to his views of which public interest required. Some railroad officials were very doubtful, however, that this disposition of the plan would be made.

President's Plan. Though not officially made public, the president's compromise suggestion as it applies to the original seniority issue, would place all shop employees who did not strike first on the seniority list, would give all returning strikers places just behind these, and would give all efficient men hired since the strike began such positions as their length of actual service had earned.

The president's proposals were said to be lengthy, but the only highly controversial matter dealt with seniority. In general, the men would go back to work, accepting the labor board's award, with an opportunity for a rehearing, the railroads agreeing to drop all outside contracting of shop, as practically all of them have already done, and agree to set up boards of adjustment to consider grievances.

FIVE POINTS IN HARDING PROPOSALS. Cincinnati, Ohio, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Five specific proposals for the settlement of the railroad strike are contained in President Harding's plan which will be submitted to railroad executives in New York and rail union heads in Chicago tomorrow. It was asserted tonight by an official of the railroad shop crafts union. The official, who refused to permit use of his name, stated that he had secured the information from rail union officials in Washington Saturday.

The five specific proposals, according to the official include: That the employees will abide by the decisions of the railroad labor board in the future.

Seniority Issue. In the matter of seniority, the employees who remained on the job during the strike will receive preferential treatment.

Men who have been on strike will return with their seniority rights subject to those rights acquired during the striking by men who remained on the job and that the seniority of the new employees will date from the time they entered the service.

The men will accept the recent wage reductions of the railroad labor board pending a further hearing on the matter by the board.

"Earning" out of shop work by the railroads will be discontinued. Discussion of the establishment of adjustment boards.

Regarding the matter of adjustment boards the official stated that the unions desire a national board of adjustment while the railroad executives seek either regional or system boards.

It was stated that the matter of accepting the proposals of President Harding is entirely up to the policy committee of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor since this body was the one which sanctioned the strike of the shopmen. The policy committee is composed of 90 men, 30 from each of three districts the dividing lines of which are the Mississippi river and the Mason and Dixon line.

Three points will be stressed by the general chairman tomorrow, it was stated, as a basis for settlement restoration of full seniority, national boards of adjustment and elimination of "earning" out of work. They will oppose, it was stated, curtailment of seniority, agreement to accept in the future decisions of the board and other than a national board of adjustment.

MEN TO INSIST ON FULL SENIORITY.

Chicago, July 31.—Leaders of the striking railroad shopmen arriving for tomorrow's meeting called to consider President Harding's peace proposals insisted tonight despite all reports to the contrary that any settlement would restore their full seniority rights to the strikers.

"The men will go back to the exact positions on the seniority and pension rolls they occupied before the walk-out July 1," the president of one of the unions declared.

All expressed belief that the terms of the President's plans would be ratified by the union leaders—the ninety men composing the policy committee of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor.

The meeting of the strike leaders will open shortly before noon at about the same hour the 143 railway president's meet in New York to act on the same proposals.

Among the union men tonight, the belief was expressed that the president's plan would meet the greatest opposition from a minority of the railway executives, but they were firm in the conviction that it would finally carry and that the strikers would be back at work before the end of the week.

Denison, Texas, will pray for settlement of the railroad strike. The mayor in a proclamation asked business houses tomorrow to close for one hour and urged citizens to assemble in church and pray that the conference of executives and shopmen result in peace. All the local churches have arranged for morning prayer meetings.

The Southern Pacific company, through its general manager, J. H.

Dyer, announced it will not accept any plan to end the present shopmen's strike that calls for the displacing of men now in the service by strikers.

NO CHANGE IN SAVANNAH.

Savannah, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—No results were observable today of the recent restraining order signed by Federal Judge Barrett, enjoining the striking shopmen of the Atlantic Coast Line from interfering with the plans of the road to keep its shops busy. No larger number of men than usual applied today for jobs in the shops here or in Jacksonville, it is said. Only one picket is reported here near the shops.

The situation at the Seaboard shops is reported unchanged. The Central is maintaining its attitude of declared leniency to the striking men, extending the time at the request of a committee of shopmen to August 8, when men on strike may return to work without relinquishing their seniority and other privileges.

J. R. Skinner, an A. C. L. striker, and G. L. Turner, alleged strikebreaker, were today both bound over in preliminary hearings to answer charges of having pistols unlawfully. The strikers held their usual daily meeting without relinquishing their seniority and other privileges.

One of the unusual features of the doings today in the strike situation in Savannah was the fact that instead of the attorney for other representatives of the striking shopmen being served with a copy of the federal injunction, more than three hundred individual former employees of the Atlantic Coast Line shop force here were served personally with notice of the federal order restraining them from interference with the work of the company in its efforts to maintain adequate shop activity.

NEGROES ARRESTED IN MACON. Macon, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Three negroes were arrested here today in connection with the strike of railroad shopmen. Walter McLendon was charged with unlawfully assembling, assault and battery and disorderly conduct. Similar charges were also made against Lee Duncan and Will Gaston.

INJUNCTION HEARING IN AUGUSTA. Augusta, Ga., July 31.—Leaders of the striking shopmen of the Charleston and Western Carolina railway will appear before Judge William H. Barrett in United States court here tomorrow to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be granted restraining them from picketing on railway property or in any way interfering with the operation of that railroad.

AUTO RAIDERS ATTACK SHOPS. Colfax, Calif., July 31.—Armed raiders in automobiles swooped down on the Southern Pacific railroad shops here early today and after firing several volleys at the windows, which were shattered, and at the walls of the plant, withdrew.

Bobbing Craze Will Continue, Says New Yorker

Comfort and Convenience Win Over Old-Fashioned Girl, She Remarks.

BY WALTER CHAMBERS Have courage, oh, damsels of the clipped tresses! Another Delilah has come to judgment in the person of Miss Ruth Ferrell Burke, of New York, who takes issue with the New Yorker published in The Constitution Sunday in which Marvin H. Reiser, said that bobbed hair must go.

"But so!" exclaimed Miss Burke as she removed her hat, uncovering a mass of dark tresses which had been bobbed. "I have just come from New York," she said smiling while her Irish-blue eyes twinkled deliciously, "and the hairdressers there tell me they are bobbing more heads every day."

Miss Burke, who is a native of New York, has been taking a rest cure at a local sanitarium. She expects to be here for several weeks, after which she will visit relatives in North Carolina before returning to her home in the fall.

"Yes," she continued, "bobbed hair, bringing comfort equally well with the physiologically correct low-heeled shoes, has come to stay. It has taken stronger hold than a mere fad or style because of its great conveniences and the relief it affords from hair-pins, switches, 'rats' and those abominable hair-nets."

"Oh-huh," we agreed. "And the flapper by no means has a monopoly on the 'bob' she remarked, running her hand through her hair and lifting it up to a point sufficient to show positively that she has ears. "One of the most dignified, serious, middle-aged women I ever saw with perfectly straight, steel-gray hair had a 'bob' and she looked well."

"Speaking of costumes, I believe the American girl is becoming more sensible every day, and I doubt if she will ever against wear the extremely long, inane, narrow skirts. I hope that America will soon begin to set her own fashions instead of continually copy-cutting after something 'from abroad.'"

"Yes," we answered, and as she left, the argument ended.

$1,000 IN SILVERWARE STOLEN SUNDAY NIGHT

Police and detectives Monday were busy trying to trace silverware and other articles that were stolen late Sunday night from the residence of W. J. Thomas, 92 Prado, while members of the family were absent. Entrance is said to have been gained through a bathroom window.

In addition to the silverware, which was valued at about $1,000, a jewelry box containing many gems, and articles of clothing were stolen, it was reported.

ence proposed would be so small as to leave it "a rum affair."

There were also fears that if such a gathering assembled, it might drag out a long time, while efforts were being made by those in it to get enough outsiders to make its wage decisions effective.

There were indications tonight that the Cleveland meeting might have in it some operators from northern West Virginia as well as the four states mentioned.

More than 1,000,000 tons of coal will be enroute to the United States from Wales and the east coast of England by September 1, according to Vice-President Smull, of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, who has charge of all locations and charters of shipping board vessels. Charters have been let for 50 ships, aggregating 400,000 tons, to engage in the import of coal, he said.

GOVERNOR APPEALS FOR CONFERENCE. Columbus, Ohio, July 31.—Governor Davis late today made a formal appeal to President Lee Hall, of the Ohio miners' union to meet in conference with operators, members of the Southern Ohio Coal Exchange, in an effort to reach an agreement that would open mines of the southern Ohio district.

He also transmitted a request of the operators for such a conference. His own good offices were extended to aid in any manner possible in making the proposed conference a success.

MINE BOILERS BLOWN UP. Canton, Ill., July 31.—The boilers of two non-union coal mines at Cuba, a few miles from here were blown up last night by unidentified persons, it was reported today. Several other mines in the same district were closed when explosions wrecked the openings.

These mines are said to be the largest wagon mines in the district.

SAVANNAH PORT FIGURES BRIGHT

Cotton Receipts Larger Than 1921 and Prices Better—Outlook for New Year Encouraging.

Savannah, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) Conditions are better this year than last in the cotton market, it was shown by the completed figures for the 1921-22 cotton season. The season closed today at the Savannah cotton exchange. A gross total of 761,239 uplands and linters bales and 1,442 Sea Island bales were received this season. The next receipts for the season were 700,529 bales of uplands and linters and 1,442 bales of Sea Island.

The season was considerably better than that ending a year ago. The foreign shipments were very good this past season with due consideration given to the fact that conditions were not normal. The exports were not normal but were very encouraging. Japan and China drew very heavily upon the exports from Savannah, taking third place.

While the price is not all that some hoped for it is high enough to give hope. The highest price was 23.30 this season. The lowest was 11.50 and the average 18.11. The season's valuation, $80,405,971, was a little ahead of last season's.

GALVESTON EXPORTS SHOW DECREASE

Galveston, Texas, July 31.—Cotton exports from the port of Galveston for the 1921-1922 season ending today were 2,772,929 bales. Receipt for the year were 2,551,935 bales. Exports last year to the same were 3,018,200 bales, and receipts 3,144,641 bales.

HOUSTON EXPORTS BREAK RECORDS

Houston, Texas, July 31.—Exceeding the total for any previous years in the export of cotton to foreign countries, the report of Houston during the fiscal year ending today shipped 478,141 bales, according to the figures compiled by J. F. Burwell, secretary of the Houston cotton exchange and board of trade.

TOTAL CASUALTIES IN HERRIN FIGHT ARE OVER SEVENTY

Chicago, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—A check up on the casualties in the Herring, Ill., mine massacre made by various labor agencies and coal associations interested shows that of the 72 men in the mine at the time it was attacked by the union forces, 61 are either dead, wounded or missing, while the total casualties on both sides numbered more than 70.

The tabulation follows:
Non-union miners and guards in mine 72.
Bodies of non-union men officially buried 19.
Non-union men wounded 34.
Non-union men missing, believed to be dead 11.
Total, casualties on non-union side 64.

Union men killed in fighting 2.
Union men who died from wounds 1.
Union men wounded, (estimated, no official figures available), 4 to 8.
Total casualties on union side 5 to 7.
Total casualties on both sides 71 to 76.

The figures show that only eight of the 72 men in the mine are known to have escaped unhurt. Of the wounded non-union men six still are in hospitals.

DEMANDS DEATH OF THIRTY RUSSIANS AT MOSCOW TRIAL

Moscow, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Death by shooting of thirty of the social revolutionists on trial here, including four women, was demanded by Prosecutor Krylenko, in summarizing the evidence against the defendants. The prisoners shouted their defiance in answer to his accusations.

He said there had been shown the connections of the defendants with the various plots charged to them, including the assassination of M. M. Volodarsky and Uritsky, Soviet leaders in Petrograd in 1918, and attempts to kill Premier Lenin and war minister Trotsky.

The principal defendants will make addresses in their own behalf.

ATLANTIC CITY SEES MANY LIQUOR RAIDS

Atlantic City, July 31.—Fifteen cafes along the Boardwalk and other sections of the city were raided yesterday by a flying squadron of prohibition agents. Liquor valued at $10,000 were seized.

Many of the places were thronged with fashionably clad men and women and the raids created consternation.

Negro Candidate For Governorship In Ohio Primary

Republicans of Harding's State Worried Over Possible Colored Victory.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, July 31.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire.)—Republicans of Ohio are very greatly worried over the race of Harry Clay Smith, negro editor of Cleveland, for governor in the party primary, according to news received in Washington. While publicly the organization in the state is wont to treat Smith's candidacy as a joke, private information at the capitol has it that much concern is being manifested.

Anxiety lies in the fact that there are two persons in the race with the name "H. C. Smith," the second of which is Harvey C. Smith, present secretary of state in Ohio.

There are nine candidates for governor in the republican primary, and it is said that with two "H. C. Smiths" on the ticket some confusion is certain to arise, resulting in some of Secretary of State Smith's votes being counted for Editor Smith, the colored candidate.

But this is not the sole cause of concern.

Editor Smith was a candidate for secretary of state against the present holder of that office with the same initials. This was in 1920 and Editor Smith, or Harry Clay Smith, was entered against Harvey C. Smith by the leaders of the Harding-Dougherty machine. It was charged, to punish Harvey C. Smith.

The reason given at that time was that Harvey C. Smith as secretary of state had made a ruling on the state primary law which prevented Candidate Warren G. Harding from naming his own delegates to the republican national convention. Therefore, the charge was, a negro opponent was influenced to get into the race against Harvey C. Smith and the negro opponent happened to be Harry Clay Smith.

To the surprise of a great many persons, the negro candidate polled 150,000 votes. The republican leaders say only 600,000 votes will be cast in the primary on August 8. With nine candidates in the race and the vote split up, the negro candidate will have a time opportunity through polling the solid negro and the scattered votes intended for Harvey C. Smith.

In the event the negro is nominated he will be some rejoicing among republican opponents of the Dougherty machine because of the fact that he was first inspired to run by this group. At the time it was thought that the editor was through, but his aspirations have now carried him to the governor's race.

Democrats from Ohio at the capitol see in the affair a peculiar situation which may result in a victory to their party nominee.

Dies at Age 108.

Chicago, July 31.—Samuel Degross, aged 108, died here yesterday. "Eat carefully, drink only moderately, let smoking and chewing alone; above all else be faithful to your religion," was the advice he was fond of offering to his seven children, forty-five grand-children, and twenty-seven great-grand-children.

Good Felt—The Foundation Of Good Roofing

On the quality of felt used in asphalt roofing depends its life; as surely as the security of a house depends on the strength of its foundation.

Flex-A-Tile Roofing is built around a base of Richardson felt—uniform in quality and even in texture. Since 1868 The Richardson Company has specialized in the manufacture of fine roofing felt.

This fabric is asphalt-saturated, then perfectly waterproofed by a thick coating of scientifically tempered natural asphalt on both sides.

FLEX-A-TILE HOUSE TOPS

When you buy Flex-a-Tile Roofing you buy strength, long life, weather-proof shelter and the beauty demanded for the roof you call "home."

And you'll find that Flex-a-Tile runs the same "all the way through," in a single unit or a car-load lot. It is manufactured to gauge, without hidden flaws. Richardson methods at every step, from raw rags to the finished product, take care of that.

You can lay a Flex-a-Tile roof over old shingling or new sheathing. It will lie flat and stay flat.

Flex-a-Tile Roofing may be obtained in smooth or slate-surfaced rolls; in the form of Standard or Giant Shingles and in a number of other types—each specially suited to one or more roofing purposes.

ATLANTA SWIMMING POOLS ARE DEFENDED

Analysis of water in the public swimming pools of Atlanta, which has recently been the subject of discussion because of alleged insanitary condition, disclosed the samples to be free from harmful bacteria, it was stated Monday by E. C. Link, assistant director of the city laboratory of hygiene.

As a result of Mr. Link's report, bathing in the city pools, which had fallen off about 50 per cent, is expected to show an increase in attendance the remainder of the season. A number of Atlanta specialists declared the water in the public pools to contain germs which infected a large number of bathers' ears and eyes. This caused a decided decrease in the number of persons entering the pools.

Samples of water from each of the five public pools showed "a water in an unusually good condition," Mr. Link stated. The samples were taken from the outer edges and center of the pools, he declared, where the test could be more definitely determined with regards to impurities.

Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, asserted that many people's ears and eyes were susceptible to irritation caused from water regardless of whether the water was pure or contaminated. "Eyes and ears of some people are peculiarly susceptible to irritation by water," Dr. Kennedy said, "and in some instances I have known persons to contract eye and ear trouble from bathing in their tubs at home."

PARTLY CLOUDY TODAY, SAYS THE FORECASTER

Partly cloudy skies and warm temperature will continue in Atlanta and vicinity Tuesday, it was forecasted by the local weather bureau Monday.

Monday's highest temperature was 92 degrees, the same as Sunday, according to C. F. von Herrmann head of the Atlanta office. Hot weather continues in all sections of the country with Phoenix, Ariz., registered 102 degrees.

Fair weather will probably be experienced here the remainder of the week.

FOSTER SPEAKS ON "HOW TO GET WHAT YOU WANT"

"It cannot be the plan of the Heavenly Father that we should be visited with disease and poverty and unhappiness. There must be some removable cause. The serious question is how to obtain what we want—health and abundance and happiness. It is my promise that," Judge William A. Foster held out to an interested audience at the second of his series of lectures on applied psychology at Cable hall Monday evening.

The lecture, on the subject, "How to Get What You Want," was intensely practical in its application to everyday life. Although Judge Foster has spent two decades in psychological research, he always talks so that the average man and woman in his audience has no difficulty in understanding him.

"The story of the sub-conscious mind is the story of applied psychology," declared the judge. "Whether there are two minds, one conscious or objective and one unconscious or subjective; or whether there is only one mind functioning on different planes or in different phases, is not of interest for us to inquire. But for purposes of study, we will consider the sub-conscious as a separate independent mind, keeps the bodily processes going, is the builder and repairer of the body and is also the shaper of the environment of each individual. "It is not every thought that reaches the sub-conscious mind, only those suggestions that are virile enough, definite enough, to force their way into the sub-conscious and stamp themselves there. And the sub-conscious mind, accepting every suggestion as true, proceeds to work it out in external form."

"Whatever one desires he may pass out in this way, passing it on to the sub-conscious mind, a suggestion, and it will manifest in the seen and material. But the results will be to him in every instance according to his faith. There is no excuse for our limitations, because we have it in our power to secure what we want, when we want it and for as long as we want it."

Near-Panic Caused By the Explosion Of Acetylene Tank

The explosion of an acetylene tank at 28 East Alabama street at about 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon caused a panic to reign in that vicinity for a few minutes.

Charles Brannon was cut in several places when he broke down a window of a passing street car to allow the frightened passengers to escape. Although a general alarm was turned in, no great damage was done by the tank fire, which lasted 20 minutes.

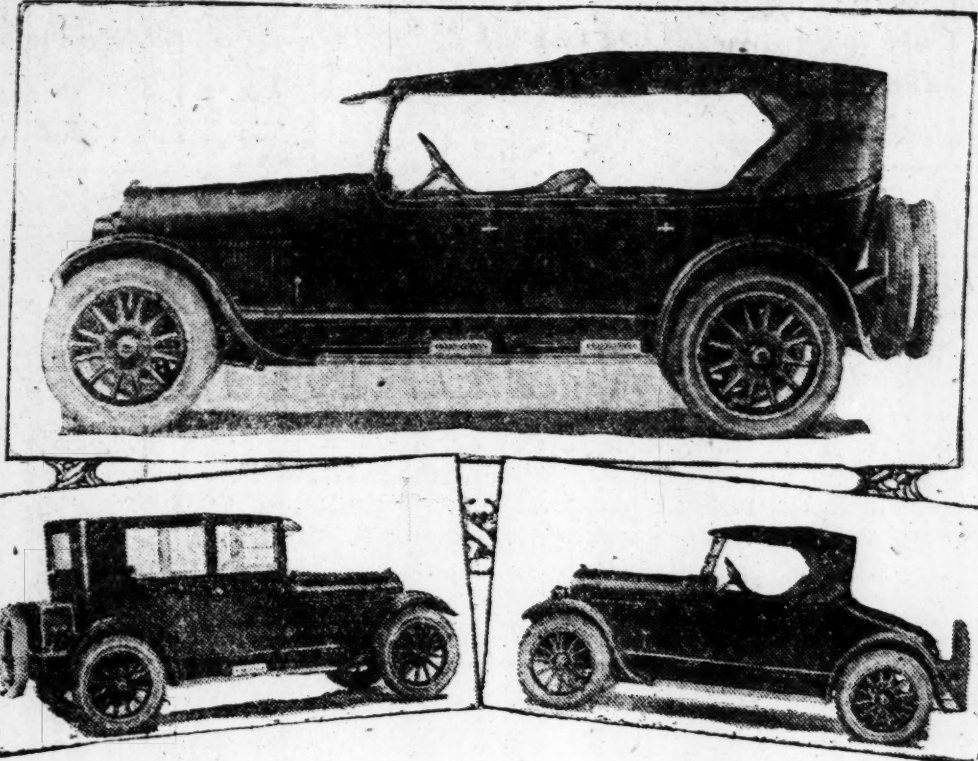

The explosion was the result of what is called a back-fire from the torch. A sheet of flame about 20 feet high shot from the tank when the safety plug flew out, setting fire to the scaffolding about the building, which is being remodelled. The fire was extinguished before it could make much headway.

GUY H. WOOLLEY DIES IN LOS ANGELES, CAL.

News has reached Atlanta of the death of Guy H. Woolley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Woolley, of 197 Holderness street, who died Saturday in Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. Woolley served four years in the United States navy, including service during the late war. During his short residence in Atlanta, he held responsible position with the Pittsburg Plate Glass company. His father was at his bedside when he died. The body will reach Atlanta Wednesday morning. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

CHINESE PARLIAMENT WILL CONVENE TODAY

Peking, July 31.—China's parliament is expected to convene here tomorrow, its first meeting since 1917. On its course to proceed with the reunited China program hang the plans and hopes of President Li Yuan-Hung. Today there was uncertainty whether sufficient members would be available to form a quorum, but members who have arrived at Peking asserted they could continue in session until able to function. Both the president of the senate and speaker of the house of representatives have declared their determination to restore parliamentary government in China.

Problems facing parliament include the depleted national treasury, discord among the provinces and hostility of the militarists who do not want their troops disbanded.

Situation Grave.

President Li described the situation as the gravest since the republic was established.

President Li wants parliament to decide his status as president. He said he was willing to retire if parliament elected another man. In this connection, General Tsao Kun and General Wu Pei-Fu have been mentioned as possibilities for the presidential chair. Both have factions working in their interests although General Wu recently declared he had no presidential ambition.

Among the schemes which President Li urges parliament to adopt are: inclusion of reduction of the 1,500,000 soldiers to the number sufficient only for defensive purposes; abolition of the Fuchow and four parts of a federation of provinces under a capable central government.

China will not be prosperous and China will not be free of its financial loans, President Li declared, until the provinces contribute their proper share of payment toward federal expenses.

Newspaper Views.

The majority of Chinese newspapers consider the president's proposal impossible for immediate fulfillment. The newspapers assert that so long as Sun Yat-sen, deposed president, remains about Canton the southwest section of China is unlikely to join the unification plan.

Another detriment is seen in the activities of General Chang Tso-Lin, who is reported rapidly recuperating military strength with the intention of exerting influence upon Peking. General Wu Pei-Fu appears to be adhering to his pledge to refrain from active participation in politics. He remains obscurely at his home in interior China awaiting events.

RUSSIAN RELIEF WORK TO CONTINUE SEVERAL MONTHS

Washington, July 31.—American relief work in soviet Russia will continue for months at least, Secretary Hoover announced today upon his return from New York where he met yesterday with officials of the foreign relief administration to decide the future program for Russian relief.

The major problem now in soviet Russia since the famine has been broken, Mr. Hoover said, is the medical one requiring the continuance of a program of American sanitation for the protection of the rest of the world from contagion.

"Russia from the world's standpoint is a cesspool of contagious infection," he said.

INCREASE REWARDS FOR DEPUTY'S SLAYER

Macon, Ga., July 31.—With rewards increased to $400, the search for the slayer of Deputy Sheriff Walter C. Byrd and George Marshall, a negro, was continued today, having become statewide through descriptions of the man wanted broadcast by the sheriff and press dispatches.

Two negroes arrested at Leesburg suspects will be released today. Sheriff Hicks is satisfied from descriptions given that neither is the negro wanted. Telegrams have also been received from other parts of the state.

Deputies continued to guard all roads leading out of Macon, following a report that Glover was to be taken out of town in an automobile during the night. Every car is being searched at the end of the paved highways, at the county lines.

"We feel sure that Glover is in Macon," said Chief Deputy Lane Mullally.

Police continued to guard property along Broadway, closed Saturday night following the shooting of Byrd, and which was still closed tonight. Little hope was held out at the hospital for the recovery of two negroes most seriously wounded last night. They are George Marshall and Sam Brooks, both shot through the abdomen.

DR. DANIEL IS URGED TO STAY IN ATLANTA

Resolutions requesting Dr. Charles W. Daniel to withdraw his resignation as pastor of the First Baptist church were adopted Monday night by deacons of the church.

The resignation of Dr. Daniel was submitted to the congregation at the Sunday morning service, but no action was taken, pending an expression of the attitude of the board of deacons.

Dr. Daniel came to Atlanta 13 years ago from the First Baptist church of Fort Worth, Texas, and his contemplated retirement from the pastorate of the First Baptist church here is to enable him to accept a call to the pulpit of the First Baptist church, of Lexington, Ky.

Dead Man's Stomach To Be Tested After Sons Are Accused

Tifton, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) Sheriff Richards, of Glades county, Fla., left for his home in Moorehaven Saturday night after shipping to the Florida state chemist, at Tallahassee, the stomach of A. J. McCrea, to be analyzed as evidence in the cases against A. B. and E. A. McCrea, sons of the deceased, who are accused of poisoning their father by putting Paris green in his coffee.

Mr. McCrea was a first marshal of Tifton after the city was incorporated, nearly 30 years ago, and spent nearly all of his life in this section. He was living on a farm he had bought in south Florida, with his sons before his death May 1. His body was sent to Tifton and buried in a churchyard, with other members of his family, May 6.

July 21, his sons, his only children, were arrested at the home of their uncle in Tampa, Fla., charged with their father's murder. It is alleged that they poisoned him to get his money. Sheriff Richards came to Tifton Friday to obtain the stomach of the dead man, who was better known here as "Toke" McCrea.

Accompanied by Dr. J. A. McCrea, brother of the deceased, an undertaker and assistant, the county physician and others, the body was taken up and the stomach removed, sealed up and sent to Tallahassee. It is said that the body was in perfect condition, showing no change, although it had been buried three months.

VETERAN SOLDIER TO BE CLERGYMAN

San Francisco, July 31.—For 22 years a soldier and a veteran of three wars, Colonel Arthur P. S. Hyde, 45, who arrived Saturday at the Presidio from Fort Anador, Panama, Canal Zone, announced today his intention to quit the army to don the robes of an Episcopalian clergyman. In 1910 while commanding at Fort Flagler, Wash., where there was no resident chaplain, Colonel Hyde, then a captain, was ordained to the priesthood of the Episcopalian church.

Later, while stationed at Seattle, Colonel Hyde accepted a call to the pulpit of St. Clement's church, a post he left to go to France as commander of the Thirty-ninth field artillery. In France he saw service at St. Mihiel and later participated in the defense of Nancy.

TO DRILL FOR OIL IN QUITMAN SOON

Quitman, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) The Lucile Oil and Gas company has been organized here, and will begin drilling the first test well in the Tallahassee district, in this county, about September 1.

The company, which includes Turner Brice and Mrs. M. E. Brice, of Quitman; Dr. H. T. Edmondson, of Colquitt county; Mrs. J. H. Randolph and Charles L. Harvey, of Pinellas county, Florida; and R. H. Bruce, of Oklahoma City, was organized this week, with a capital stock of $100,000. Mrs. Randolph's husband is an oil man, and her visits to the western oil country impressed her with the similarity between that section and this county. She persuaded her husband, who is a practical oil operator and geologist, to come here and investigate the possibilities of oil in this section. He has been here nearly two months.

Grecian Maiden To Be Next Style After Flapper

St. Louis, Mo., July 31.—A Grecian maiden, with classically bound hair, long draping and flowing robes and sandal-like footwear—such will be the stylish girl who will replace the present "flapper" in the opinion of some of the delegates who are attending the three-day convention of the national hairdresser's association opened here today.

The hairdressers naturally will have to fit the flowing sleeves of the straight-line frocks, which have been designed by dame fashion for the present time, declared a delegate and in accordance with that edict, bobbed hair will have to go, eventually.

The coiffure must fit fashion and place, said another expert, and it's about time that women learn not to wear the same sort all the time, a coiffure becoming for afternoon wear is not always fitted for evening appearance, or some other occasion.

The return of the wig, though not so conspicuous as it was centuries ago, is seen by other hairdressers probably as the "bobby" finds her days counted. Women who pay as much attention to their coiffure as they do to dress will be looked on as the fashionables in the future, was the surmise of another fair delegate.

Talks on the art of hairdressing will be illustrated by three-day demonstrations during the three-day gathering. Mayor Kiel welcomed the assembly and presented a key made from the hair of an auburn-haired American beauty.

AUTOISTS REPORT PACK OF WOLVES IN NEW JERSEY

Easton, Pa., July 31.—Automobilists returning to their homes here from week-end trips through New Jersey and New York today reported that they encountered a pack of wolves between Belvidere and Hackettstown last night. One motorist exhibited a broken window in the side of his coupe, which he said was caused by one of the animals leaping against it. So far as could be learned no one was attacked by the animals but several motorists said they were followed a considerable distance by them.

10,000 PEOPLE VISIT HANDSOME NEW BANK

Upwards of 10,000 persons Monday inspected the handsome new banking quarters of the Citizens and Southern bank which formally opened to the public at 9 o'clock Monday morning. It was estimated by officials after the doors closed for the day.

The bank occupied its remodeled home after using temporary quarters in the Palmer building for several months. The enlarged quarters occupy the four entire floors of the Citizens and Southern bank, at Marietta and Broad streets.

W. W. Banks, executive officer of the bank, stated Monday afternoon that the bank anticipates very good business this fall. In his opinion Atlanta now faces perhaps the brightest period since the depression began in 1920.

Many baskets of flowers and telegrams and letters of congratulations were received at the bank Monday from other banks and friends. Every nature of financial transaction is handled by the Citizens and Southern bank. In addition to facilities of every great bank, the Citizens and Southern maintains a bond department, operating as the Citizens and Southern company, and a well-organized trust department.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY WORKER BOUND OVER

Watson Reed, negro employee of the Southern railway, Monday afternoon was bound over to the state courts under a charge of carrying a pistol without license by Alderman Foster Hunter, from the fifth ward, who presided over the police court in the absence of Recorder George E. Johnson.

The negro was arrested last Friday afternoon by Call Officers John Crankshaw and H. Grady Andrews at the instance of G. M. Anderson, 1220 Marietta street, and J. E. Pittman, 110 Niles avenue, two strikers, who accused the negro of trying to point his pistol at them when they approached him in an effort to get him to leave his work with the railway company.

Both Anderson and Pittman were in recorder's court that the negro did not bother them, until they approached him and asked his business at Inman yards. They then stated that the negro drew a gun from his hip-pocket and retorted that it was none of their business, attempting at the same time, they said, to point the gun at them. Anderson stated he grabbed the negro's hand, wresting the gun from his grasp, and he and Pittman held him until the arrival of the officers.

Two alleged strikers, arrested by Officers P. B. Daley and W. M. Weaver at the instance of special officers for railroads, were acquitted in recorder's court yesterday afternoon.

The men arraigned were Pat J. Hickey, 51, of Lakewood avenue, and E. A. Mullins, 40, of 16 Vera street. Hickey was arrested at the instance of H. O. Cooper and G. A. Davis, special officers for the Atlanta Joint terminals, who charged that he threw rocks at a passing train.

Mullins was accused of having hit Special Officer Bill Ogden, of the Southern railway, it is said. Ogden is said to have admitted that he did not know that Mullins was the man that struck him.

Officers Weaver, Daley and Taylor stated that they were driving close to Hickey at the time he is alleged to have thrown at the train and that they did not see him doing so.

CHURCHMEN OF DEKALB END 1922 CONVENTION

Decatur, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) The annual convention of the DeKalb County Sunday School association, held in the Decatur Presbyterian church, was considered one of the best meetings of the association. Twenty-seven Sunday schools were represented. About 150 persons were present, including 12 superintendents and 30 teachers.

Officers elected include the following: President, J. W. Phillips, Redau; vice president, Scott Caudier, Decatur; secretary, J. B. Lockhart, Kirtwood; assistant secretary, Mrs. L. J. Cassels, Kirtwood; children's division, superintendent, Mrs. C. D. McKlancy, Decatur. District president, Mrs. J. J. James Griffin, Stone Mountain; No. 2, M. P. Scott, Decatur; No. 3, R. F. Smith, Decatur; No. 4, R. F. J. Jeter, Decatur; No. 5, Carlos Jones, Decatur.

Mrs. W. L. Blankinship, of Atlanta, spoke on "Practical Plans for Work With Young People." R. D. Webb, state general superintendent, spoke on "The Forward Moving School." Mrs. S. H. Askew, who is in charge of the Community Vacation Bible school now in session in the Decatur Presbyterian church, briefly reviewed the work of the school.

Dr. H. W. Cox, president of Emory university, made an address at the morning session on Sunday school work. Colonel H. A. Etheridge, who is teaching one of the large Bible classes in the Tabernacle Baptist Sunday school spoke on "Building Up the Adult Bible Class." Mrs. Blankinship spoke on the "Forward Looking Teacher," and Mr. Webb discussed the organized Sunday school work in Georgia under the head of "Forward in Religious Education."

Dr. W. A. Smart, of Emory, delivered an inspiring address showing the power of education in the lives of nations. A group of girls from the Vacation Bible school gave a play entitled, "Anychild."

Respect for Law Shown in Britain Impresses Erwin

Absolute respect for law and order by all English people makes a profound impression on American visitors to England, according to Thomas C. Erwin, vice president of the Citizens and Southern bank, who returned to Atlanta Monday after a short tour of various European points.

Mr. Erwin went to Aberavon, Wales, for the purpose of settling the estate of Mrs. Mary Gravelle Gamack, who died in an automobile accident here in March, 1921.

Accompanied by his daughter, Miss Catherine Erwin, who has been visiting in Liverpool for some time, Mr. Erwin visited many points of interest in England, Scotland, Wales, France, Switzerland and Italy.

At home Mr. Erwin and his daughter visited the grandmother of Mrs. Erwin, Mrs. George W. Campbell, formerly of New York, who has resided in Italy for some 20 years, living at the Barbarini palace, with her daughter, Princess San Faustina.

Mr. Erwin was greatly impressed with the law observance throughout England, and declares that it has made England probably one of the greatest civilizing forces of the world.

Together with Joseph A. McCord, Mr. Erwin was named as an executor of the estate of Mrs. Mary Gamack, whose death occurred from heart failure last year when an automobile in which she was riding with relatives was struck by a train at the White hall crossing. Heirs of Mrs. Gamack were two brothers and a sister in Aberavon. The estate consisted of real estate holdings.

BRUNSWICK WILL SHOW ADVANTAGES AS SITE FOR PORT

Brunswick established headquarters Monday at the Kimball house, room 220, to furnish information to legislators and the public concerning the advantages of that city as a site for the proposed state-owned port terminals.

Mayor C. D. Ozg, of Brunswick, announced establishment of the headquarters, which will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night and will be in charge of Fred G. Varde, managing secretary of the Brunswick board of trade.

Maps, charts, diagrams and other data showing the depth of the harbor and its proposed improvement, will be kept on exhibition.

Movement From Farm To City Will Continue Declares Dr. Gentner

The industrial movement is a movement from the farm to the city and it will have no recession, according to Dr. Joseph J. Gentner, of New York City, who addressed the Baptist Minister's association yesterday morning at First Baptist church on "The Church and Modern Industry."

"During the war we moved over 2,000,000 of our best American manhood from the farm and rural life of America," said Dr. Gentner, "and showed them New York, Chicago and London and, as the song said, 'How are you going to keep them down on the farm after they have seen Paris?' You are not; they have become part of the great industrial army of today and tomorrow. Practically every state in the union in the last ten years has reported a large decrease in rural population and a tremendous increase in city population."

The industrial movement, the speaker said, was the latest of the four great movements in history, the other three being the religious, democratic and social movements. The social movement, he said, was the latest of the four great movements in history, the other three being the religious, democratic and social movements. The social movement, he said, was the latest of the four great movements in history, the other three being the religious, democratic and social movements.

The term democracy has become ambiguous, Dr. Gentner declared, and meant nothing concrete or definite to the average thinker, but he defined it as "an open road for talent and an adequate reward to talent," using for his definition the composite definitions of Napoleon and Judson G. Rosebush.

As illustrating the modern trend, Dr. Gentner cited the fact that today over 80 per cent of our college graduates are going into industry, the other 20 per cent being divided as to the careers chosen. This, he said, was in contrast to the 80 per cent of college graduates who two decades ago went into the profession, the law, medicine and the ministry.

Dr. Gentner is field director of the Legal Reform Bureau to eliminate the Loan Shark Evil, Inc., was at one time on the parole board of New York City, and during the world war chaplain in detached service in New York state.

SCHOOL PRIZES WON BY BEN HILL YOUTHS

Tifton, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Ben Hill county carried off the lion's share of the prizes in the contests, which closed the last day of the former's short course at the Second District A. & M. school, taking six of the ten prizes offered. This county sent the largest delegation, 42, for the short course and that they were well trained was evidenced by their work.

The awards were as follows:

Poultry, first prize, Miss Etta Belle Meeker, Ben Hill county; second, Miss Minnie Peterson, Ben Hill; third, Miss Margaret Moore, of Dooly. The prizes were settings of choice eggs.

Hog judging and essay, first prize, Clemons Scarborough, Dooly; second, Edwin Fleming, Dooly. The prizes were a male pig and a bull calf.

Cattle judging and essay, first prize, George Drexel, of Ben Hill; second, Elmore Troop, Ben Hill. These prizes were bull calves that would sell for the breeder for $100 to $700. All the prizes were contributed by Professor Lewis and the A. & M. school.

J. B. Mosteller Dead.

Woodstock, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) J. B. Mosteller, 63 years old, died at 2 o'clock this morning of heart failure. He had been in feeble health about 12 months. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the Methodist church, with interment at Little River cemetery. He is survived by his widow, two daughters and two sons.

BARROW TO SPEAK TO BURNS LOVERS ON SIDNEY LANIER

Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the University of Georgia, will be honor guest of the Burns club of Atlanta Wednesday night, at which time he will address the club on Sidney Lanier, Georgia's great poet.

A number of prominent educators have been invited, among them Dr. M. M. Parks, president of G. N. & I. C. who will succeed Dr. M. L. Brittain as state superintendent of schools; Dr. Brittain, recently elected president of Georgia Tech; Dr. H. W. Cox, president of Emory university; Dr. Thornehill Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university; Dr. W. W. Gaines, president of the board of education; and W. A. Sutton, superintendent of the city schools.

The club cottage will be decorated throughout with red and black the state university colors. The meeting will be presided over by President Walter McElreath, of the Burns club.

The Makers of U.S. Royal Cords Beg to State —

NOT quite seven years ago the U. S. Royal Cord Tire was announced to the public.

People who saw it remarked on the beauty of the tread design, which is protected by U. S. Letters Patent.

The same design that since then has proved itself the most scientific tread pattern ever put on a pneumatic tire.

To identify this superlative tire under all conditions—whether running or stationary—Royal Cord makers adopted as a trade mark a circumferential white stripe placed on each side wall.

Today, Royal Cord beauty and identity is so known and distinguished that even a newsboy can spot one whisking around the corner.

And tar-owners everywhere look upon a Royal Cord as the measure of all automobile tire values.

According to some tire dealers and manufacturers the public has been having one of its "price spells" and demands cheap tires.

Current prices on United States Passenger Car Tires and Tubes are not subject to Federal Excise Tax, the tax having been included.

MANY COLLEGES NOW ENGAGED IN BROADCASTING

One guarantee of the permanency of broadcasting appears to lie in the fact that many of the larger universities have erected their own stations at great expense, and for definite purposes aside from entertainment alone. It would take a page to enumerate the various institutions that have followed the lead of the University of Wisconsin and several other western state universities who were early in the field, but apparently they have been extremely satisfied with their experiments and plan to continue their scope.

Furthermore new recruits are being added continually. At Ohio State a campaign was begun recently to raise the necessary funds for a broadcasting station from among the alumni, and at latest reports was progressing successfully. The committee reported great interest on the part of the graduates, due largely to the fact that eighty per cent of those solicited had already acquired an interest in wireless.

FRASER WITHDRAWS FROM RACE IN BIBB

Macon, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Dr. E. Powell Fraser today withdrew from the race for congress in the sixth congressional district. He gave as his reason, lack of local support. The withdrawal of Dr. Fraser leaves only J. Walter Wise, the incumbent, and Judge J. J. Flynn, of Griffin, in the race.

LAUD ORCHESTRA OF CONSTITUTION

Detroit News Telegram
Hails Flood of Commemoratory Words for
New Feature From WGM.

Congratulations from station WWJ. The Detroit News, headed the list of messages of commendation and praise for station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution orchestra, which will present a program each evening between 6 and 7 o'clock beginning next Monday.

As the first newspaper broadcasting agency in America to have its own radio orchestra, The Detroit News is in the position to extend the first congratulations to The Constitution, which is the second newspaper broadcasting agency to present its own orchestra.

Following the initial concert from WGM by The Atlanta Constitution orchestra Tuesday evening a veritable flood of letters and telephone calls told of the warm welcome which will greet the programs between 6 and 7 o'clock.

Before the concert was well under way Sunday evening telephone calls told of the success with which the program was meeting in Atlanta and its environs. When the program was concluded the telephone at WGM kept up an almost continuous business as people spoke words of commendation for the orchestra's music. The debut of The Atlanta Constitution orchestra was a triumph.

All day Monday the mails brought cards and letters of praise to WGM and to Warner's Seven Aces, The Atlanta Constitution orchestra.

These words of praise show conclusively the recognition of the presentation of The Atlanta Constitution orchestra as one of the biggest forward steps in radio entertainment.

Elder W. M. Blackwell Preaches on Preaching

Following is the sermon delivered over radio by Elder Walter M. Blackwell at the 6 o'clock broadcasting period yesterday evening:

"Without any preliminaries or even a collection I will speak to you, my invisible hearers, for just a few moments. Now I want you to make real good listeners. My text is 1 Cor. 1:23. 'We Preach Christ Crucified.' Of all the many things necessary this day, I am sure one of them is preaching. God has ordained the ministry and given its work. The Lord Jesus Christ himself was a preacher. He called the twelve to preach, he called many others and is still calling men to His noble work. He said, 'your field is the world. This is the great need of the world today. Preaching. Go Preach!'

"The apostle Paul said, 'We preach.' Preach what? Well, what are we commanded to preach?

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

BY EDWARD F. JAY, JR.
Formerly Technical Electrical Expert for United States Government

LESSON No. 109.
The Effects of Frequency.

Frequency is a term applied to alternating current circuits referring to the changes in direction of the current. For example, a lighting circuit which supplies 60-cycle current to a house is said to have a frequency of 60 cycles, while most of the signals heard on the receiving set have a frequency of 500 cycles, if they are from commercial stations.

The frequency of the current which is to pass through the windings of a transformer or other electrical device having an iron core is an important consideration in designing such equipment. An increase in the frequency usually means a decrease in the dimensions of the iron core used. It takes a definite time to set up a given magnetic field around a coil of wire and in an iron core and if the current is made to reverse its direction more often it is necessary to reduce the amount of iron in the core to permit building up the field to the same strength.

The lowest frequency employed for commercial lighting circuits is 25 cycles, which means 50 alternations of current per second. This frequency is somewhat below the range of the usual voice or audio-frequencies. When we get up into the range of radio-frequencies the current reverses extremely rapidly, so that most of the apparatus of the sort mentioned above functions without any iron core at all, having a so-called "air-core." Examples of air-core transformers are variocouplers and receiving transformers, radio-frequency amplifying transformers, and oscillation transformers of various types for transmission purposes.

It is a peculiarity of radio-frequency currents that they travel chiefly on the surface of the conductor and do not penetrate deeply into it. This is the reason why tubing or strips of large area is employed in the powerful transmitting stations for those parts of the circuits which carry high frequency currents. This also accounts for the fact that a person coming in contact with the antenna lead of a transmitting plant of moderate power is not always severely burned. Many of the vaudeville acts are performed with high frequency currents jumping from the finger tips of the performers without injury.

A transformer designed to operate on, say, 500 cycles, will probably burn out if subjected to the excessive current which would be drawn from a 25-cycle source unless a large core suitable for the reduced frequency was used. On the other hand, a transformer designed for 60 cycles may be employed on 120 cycles at slightly reduced power and at very low power on 500 cycles without external choke coils.

Variations in frequency play an important part in the reception by radio of music or speech. Audio-frequency amplifying transformers usually function best at a certain frequency, so that sounds at frequencies above or below this are not amplified in the same proportion. This is the reason for the apparent distortion in some types of receiving sets employing several stages of audio-frequency amplification.

It is the frequency of an alternating current circuit which makes possible such apparatus as the transformer, impedance coils, condenser by-passes, and many other useful devices which are inoperative on direct current or current which flows continuously in one direction, as from a storage battery.

(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution.)

He said 'we preach not about ourselves, we preach not the commandments of men, we preach not the law, but we preach—We preach Christ. Not some men, not some current event of the day, not Americanism or some other issue, this is not what the soul is hungry for. That is spending time and money for that which satisfieth not. We preach Christ. Preach Him here, then what have we? He is the Christ to us, one of power. He shall save His people from their sins, was Heaven's great message to Israel, this is not what the soul is hungry for. He shall save. Save who? All who may have a chance to hear the Gospel and accept. Is that the Savior He is? He shall save. He shall save to the uttermost all they that come unto God by Him. This is the way they come. This Christ said to His Father in his prayer, 'I know my words, 'Thou hast given Him power over all flesh that he should give eternal life to as many as thou hast given Him.' Will He do it? I am sure He will not fail. This is the Christ. He has the power and will save all for whom He died.

"He is to us not only Christ with power, but Christ crucified. On the cross he was nailed, there He died and died. Not for himself, but for the people. Dying for our sins and God accepted the substitute, and by it we are free, our debt was cancelled and God shall reveal this fact to us by His blessed Spirit. 'I know my words, and am known of mine.' John 10:14. 'All shall know me from the least to the greatest.'

"Not only do we think of Him as settling our sin question, forever, but we think of Him now in heaven, as God's right hand interceding for us, blessing His people and calling upon each of them to love and serve Him, not in order to go to heaven, but because he has already saved them for heaven and brought us under such great obligations to Him.

"He is our Friend, Companion and Elder Brother. Our sinful condition, the tide of spiritual poverty, our strikes, griefs and all disputes can be settled only by Him. We preach Christ. On Him let us believe, for Him let us live, to Him let us look for a second coming when all things shall be changed and regulated.

"Now I have given you this brief sermonette. Come out some night this week to the North Avenue School building and hear a whole sermon and then you can pay for this one."

Steel Strike Ends.
Newcastle, Pa., July 31.—Approximately 500 men who have been on strike at the Shelby steel tube plant at Ellwood City, near here, returned to work today. The men demanded a return to the 1920 wage scale. The company offered them new working conditions and they accepted. It is said the men will return to work on a tonnage instead of a flat scale basis.

THREE ARE HURT
IN AUTO CRASH:
DRIVER SOUGHT
Although hunted by detectives and police, the driver of a machine that struck an automobile being repaired in front of 247 West Tenth street, about 1:30 o'clock Monday morning, injuring three, had not been apprehended up to a late hour last night. The injured are J. W. Meckel, who lives at 184 State street; Charlie Ballean, 675 Highland avenue, and Frank Stanton, Jr., of 975 Highland avenue.

Meckel and Ballean were seriously hurt. Meckel suffering a fracture of the hip, with the probability of internal injuries while Ballean had two or three ribs fractured and was otherwise bruised. Mrs. Stanton, who was sitting on the back seat of the machine that was undergoing repairs at the time of the collision, was uninjured. Frank Stanton, Jr., who was riding in the repair work of the disabled auto, received a deep scalp wound. All of the injured parties were rushed to Grady hospital for first aid treatment. The wrecked automobile belonged to Mrs. Ruth Kramer, of Carrollton. She, with Miss Louise Chappell, of Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Frank Stanton, Frank Stanton, Jr., and Charlie Ballean were on their way to the Stanton home at the time of the accident.

WGM BROADCASTS THREE PROGRAMS

Mrs. Mathews, Pupils of Oratory School, and Georgia Legislators
Heard by Radio.

Mrs. Rose Mathews, soprano and pupil of Signor E. Volpi; members of the Georgia legislature and pupils from the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression furnished two hours' entertainment last evening for listeners on WGM, the radio station of The Constitution. Mrs. Mathews, who was accompanied at the piano by Signor Volpi, was featured at the 9 o'clock broadcast, while the legislators and Oratory school pupils were heard at 6.

Broadcasting last evening was opened at 6 o'clock with the four recitations given by the pupils of the School of Oratory. They were under the direction of Judge T. J. Luke, president of the school.

The numbers given by the pupils, all members of the children's department, were as follows:

"I Got a Baby Brother," by Bruce Morgan; "My Ann," by Ringer Hornsby; "Things Inside," by George Coppage; and "Entertaining the Minister," by Estell Minsk.

Following the program by the children, six members of the Georgia legislature, two singers from Dawson, Ga., and Elder Walter M. Blackwell, of the North Avenue Primitive Baptist church, gave a sacred program.

Elder Blackwell preached a ten-minute sermon, while the singers under the direction of Judge T. J. Luke, of Ben Hill county, Georgia, presented old-fashioned religious numbers.

Members of Judge Luke's singing class were: Tobe Daniel, J. M. Allen, J. S. Shettersworth, Joe H. Gunnells, R. G. Clark and R. J. Lewis. One duet was given by Miss Neva Jennings and Miss Hattie Belle Jennings, of Dawson. Miss Lela Hall played the piano accompaniments.

The numbers she sang were "In The Garden of My Heart," "Pale Moon," "O Dry Those Tears," Schubert's "Serenade," and "Go Forth and Find."

At the request of a listener Mrs. Mathews at the conclusion of her program sang Schubert's "Serenade" again.

Pauline Frederick, the motion picture star, in a hobby of collecting postage stamps, her present collection being valued at thousands of dollars.

Accompanied by her teacher, Signor Volpi, Mrs. Mathews was heard at her best.

Mrs. Mathews sang numbers which are especially well liked by radio audiences, if requests can be taken as an indication of the kinds of music over which listeners become enthusiastic.

ROSELAND DANCE PROGRAM PLANNED

Wellborn-King Orchestra
to Give Concert at 9 O'Clock Tonight—Features at 6.

Two programs of real merit are in store for radio listeners who tune at 6 and 9 o'clock tonight for station WGM, The Atlanta Constitution. The program at 6 o'clock will consist of Victor records furnished by the Cable Piano company and the regular features, news flashes and market reports of The Constitution radio service.

At 9 o'clock The Constitution will present for the entertainment of radio listeners the Wellborn-King dance orchestra of Greenville, S. C., which plays tonight for a dance at Roseland, corner Peachtree and Cain streets.

By a special device The Constitution obtains the music at Roseland, transmits it over a pair of cables to the studio of The Constitution and then broadcasts it from The Constitution building, much in the same manner in which the Sunday organ recitals by City Organist Charles A. Shelen, Jr., are broadcast.

The Wellborn-King orchestra was brought to Atlanta by J. E. Lane, proprietor of Roseland, several weeks ago and has been drawing crowds to Roseland with its dance programs.

A number of complimentary telephone calls and letters and cards have been received by The Constitution on previous programs given by the Wellborn-King organization.

Some of the numbers on tonight's program which will be found in no other part of today's radio department are numbers requested by radio listeners.

The Citizens & Southern Bank

Appreciates Your Visit to Its New Home in the Citizens and Southern Building

To the thousands of our friends and customers who took the time yesterday to visit our new home in the Citizens & Southern Building, and to congratulate us upon the wonderful transformation wrought in the old rooms, we want to express our sincere appreciation.

We want at this time to leave just one thought with you. As beautiful as the fixtures are, as architecturally perfect as the remodeled building may be, THE REAL VALUE TO YOU AND TO US IS IN THE IMPROVED CONVENIENCE OF THE WORKING QUARTERS.

Our employees have every facility that will enable them to handle your business with added speed and accuracy. You will be waited on more promptly. There will be less confusion and occasion for error.

THAT IS THE REAL REASON FOR THE NEW HOME OF THE CITIZENS AND SOUTHERN BANK.

Writes of Kindergarten Bill

The interest of the mothers of Georgia in the permissive kindergarten bill now before the general assembly is expressed by Mrs. Charles H. Morris, president of the Atlanta Parent-Teacher Association, who is steering chairman for this bill for the state legislative council of woman's state organizations in an article written for The Constitution.

The women's organizations especially urging the bill in the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, the Parent-Teacher associations and Women's Christian Temperance union.

Mrs. Morris says:

"The mothers of Georgia are waking up to the fact that the kindergarten is one of the most important of the child's life. It is the creative period and the seed planting time. The kindergarten prepares the soil upon which the proper foundation of the later education comes. It forms a natural bond between the home and the school. It has its first work upon the home in the child's capital of experience and gradually extends the home interests to cover the larger social group and more extended activities of the kindergarten, and then on to the special interests of the school.

"If one is interested in the details of knowing this is done, examine the written plan of work in any good kindergarten. The kindergarten considers the whole nature of the child; physical, mental and moral; and gives every aspect of that nature a chance for exercising, training and growth. Kindergarten education is a motor, and its aim is to develop human power. Some of the watch-words are self-activity, wanting to do through doing, education by development, all growth from within out. The child also gets special training for his lower nerve center. He gains control over his physical organism. He gains the ability to obey promptly and to carry out instructions; the ability to concentrate attention; the ability to carry his own ideas into effective action.

The kindergarten furnishes a mental background for the formal study of reading, writing, arithmetic and geography. In teaching a child to write, the following processes will be involved: First, holding and directing the pencil; second, observing the copy; third, reproducing the copy; fourth, connecting the symbol with the meaning. The kindergarten promotes the happiness of children. They delight in its activities, all of which are based upon their natural instincts. The kindergarten promotes the physical well-being of the child.

"I have confined this outline to a few of the most obvious and practical reasons, and have not attempted to set forth the deeper values and latter truths upon which these practical merits rest."

Miss Harvey Is
Hostess at Tea
For Miss Saunders

Miss Mary Harvey was hostess at an informal tea Monday afternoon at her home on Maddox Drive in Inman park, the occasion honoring Miss Lane Saunders, of Washington, D. C., who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Murray Hubbard.

Throughout the house summer flowers in baskets and roses were used to form the background. In the dining room, the tea table was covered with a cloth of light lace, while adorning the center was a silver loving cup, holding pink zinnias. Silver candlesticks holding unshaded pink candles, and pink mums in silver compotes carried out the exquisite details.

"Mrs. Robert Emmett Harvey carried her daughter in entertaining, and was assisted in white china."

Miss Harvey wore a gown of white organdy, and Miss Saunders wore pink organdy.

Invited to meet the honor guest were Misses Virginia Howard, Luitia Johnson, Sarah Hurt, Elizabeth Hoyt, Ann Lane Newell, Constance Spalding, Susan L. Sparger, Lucie Dunlap, Louise Frost, Adelaide Tignor, Mary Virginia Woolley, Nancy Strickling, Lillian McFarland, Viola Dickson, Margaret Teagle, Margaret Alston, and Virginia Court.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE CURSE OF A THIN SKIN.
"She is very sensitive and easily hurt," a mother said to me in regard to her 8-year-old daughter.

She said it in the child's hearing. And the child not only listened but evidently "ate it up," as the expression goes.

One could tell by her expression, her air of being pointed out as something unusual, that she had heard that said before and that she regarded her sensitiveness as something distinctive and desirable.

Nothing To Be Proud Of.
Poor youngster! First, to be cursed with a thin skin. And secondly, to be cursed with the idea that a thin skin is something to be proud of! That sensitiveness is something to be cultivated instead of stepped on with both feet!

I can see her growing up into one of those unhappy creatures who are forever being hurt and having to be smoothed over, who are always afraid people don't want them and have to be reassured and urged before they will join any party.

Sometimes such people have enough good points so that others are willing to reassure and urge for the sake of their company. But it takes a great deal of time and energy to make a person who has good points and don't have the sensitiveness that in the end folks are apt to say, "Oh, what's the use," and let the supersensitive person retire into her shell, because it's too much work to keep pulling her out.

I have in mind a woman afflicted with this curse. She lives at an inn where there are many good times going on. She might have her share in most of them, but she is so sensitive, so afraid of intruding, such a hanger-back, that she is apt to be off on a walk by herself, or up in her room, when good times are planned and then gets left out. And then that makes her more sensitive, and so the vicious circle runs.

Dead Sea Fruit.
Sensitiveness is a misfortune. It's the defect that goes with certain good qualities. But it is not in itself a good quality, and it will surely bring you unhappiness unless you do everything you can to remove it. Don't let yourself think people don't want you. Be natural, be happy, be ready to join in any good time and people will want you.

And if you are a mother of children don't plant any of this poppycock idea about being sensitive in their young minds. The fruit it will bear will be the dead sea fruit of morbidness and unhappiness. Don't be a party to any such harvest.

A Cool and Becoming Blouse.
3979. Charming in this pleasing model with its simple lines, and smart touches of embroidery. Yellow voile could be attractively combined with white embroidery, or white French crepe, with the underfolds of the plait in blue. Taffeta, chiffon, net, and figured silk is also good for this style.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size requires 2 1/8 yards of 30-inch material. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

To Flavor Tomatoes.
Pass the knife with which you are cutting tomatoes over the cut surface of an onion; the resulting flavor is very delicate.

The Involuntary Vamp by Mildred Barbour

Who's Who in the Story.

DIANA LANGLEY, who possesses to a superlative degree a quality of "fure" wished for her at birth, her youthful aunt.

MARJORIE LANGLEY, herself a noted beauty, to whom.

STEPHEN DALE, a wealthy bachelor, has been devoted for years, impetuously declares her love for Dale and on being told that he can never marry because of a trace of insanity in his family, to smother her pride elopes with and marries ALEX LEIGH, a young navy officer, nephew of ADMIRAL ARMSTRONG, who is also an admirer of Marjorie's. At the same time TED SANDERS, a hopeless suitor for Diana's hand, marries.

SYLVIA BENNETT, a friend of Diana's, inclined to "cattiness," on her way to California with her new husband, Diana meets an old acquaintance, Lyn Johnston, and is finally left behind with him at a "New Mexican town when the train pulls out unexpectedly. They are picked up by a Spaniard.

FEDE DOMINGUEZ, who makes Johnston a prisoner and tries to marry Diana, escapes only to fall into a worse misadventure from which she is rescued by DOCTOR MAXWELL BORDEN, a former noted New York physician, who, with his sister.

CYNTHIA BORDEN, are people with a suspicious past in which Stephen Dale and his late uncle who died in an asylum, are somehow involved. Borden falls in love with Diana, who, retaining the impossibility of her existing marriage reluctantly promises to marry him when Leigh has freed her. Fearing the persistence of Dominguez, he takes her to San Francisco, but not before Dale has discovered her and unwittingly revealed the fact that he loves her. On her arrival Diana finds that her adventure has resulted in the disappearance of her husband, the loss of Johnston, the divorce proceedings of the Sandersons, a warrant for Dominguez on the charge of murder, and a break in friendly relations with Marjorie. A meeting finally takes place between Dale and Borden.

INSTALLMENT NO. 80.

Several Amazing Incidents.

Dale laughed at sight of Diana's amazed expression.

"I'm a false alarm on the forewell, or, I missed my train this time and have to stop over until tomorrow. What are you?"

"Oh, I'm so glad! I was just going to write you. This is," she turned and beckoned Dr. Borden, who was hovering patiently at a distance, "her heart was pounding with fear of what she was about to do. However, there was no help for it. Fate had taken a hand, and it was useless to try to keep the two men apart longer. "This is Stephen Dale, Dr. Borden. Surely you remember each other."

"I'll say I do remember the doctor. Mighty good times we had on the old yacht once upon a time. It was great news, doctor, to find that the rumor of your death was false."

The doctor's face was very grave. His eyes searched Dale's.

"Thank you," he said. "I was rather sorry to hear it."

"Oh come," laughed Dale, trying to dispel the other's gravity. "You're just in your prime, doctor. I dare say you've had a little too much of that desert country. Better give New York a try for a change."

Borden shook his head.

"I'm off to the Orient with my sister. You remember Cynthia, of course?"

Forcing the Game.

"Rather," smiled Dale. "She isn't the type of woman any man forgets very easily."

"Cynthia is old-like myself," replied the doctor sadly. "We should be glad to see you again before we go away. I'm happy to find you looking so fit, my boy."

Dale shook his head and pointed to his temples with a mock tragic gesture.

"The finger prints of age, my dear doctor! Don't think you and Miss Borden are the only victims. I feel like an old man when I look at Diana here."

His dark eyes were brilliantly tender when he was looking at Diana. The doctor looked at her, too.

Perhaps something he saw in Dale's glance brought a trace of fear to his own.

"Has Mrs. Leigh told you that she is going to do me the honor to become my wife?" he asked.

"I just saw Sylvia and Ted," she whispered, leaning forward to Marjorie. "I believe they're making up. Otherwise she wouldn't dare be seen with him, in view of her divorce case."

Marjorie shrugged without turning her head.

"Their affairs are no concern of mine."

Diana, feeling completely smothered, turned her attention to the stage, but the play soon bored her and she took refuge in her own thoughts.

What she asked herself for the thousandth time, was the mystery surrounding the Borden which involved Stephen Dale's family.

She was unaware of it. She had fearfully expected a scene of some sort when it was indeed even to contemplate another marriage. But come, doctor, apropos of Marjorie, she will be furious if we don't join her immediately at the theater. (Steve, I won't take a moment to tell what I was going to write you. Come with us in the cab.)

Dale agreed and Diana repeated rapidly the story she had told the doctor, while he, looking incredibly old and worn, stared silently out of the window.

Dale put the Johnston will away in his billfold.

"Don't worry, Di! I'll soon know something. If only I hadn't missed that confounded train!"

"I'm glad you did," she whispered under her breath.

The cab drew up in front of the theater and there was no time for further conversation. Dale leaped out and reached out a hand to assist Diana.

She stepped to the sidewalk and raised her eyes to find herself looking straight into Sylvia Saunders' maliciously smiling ones.

Deeper Mystery.

Before Dr. Borden had climbed out of the cab, Sylvia had swept into the theater, followed closely by Ted.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Diana. "Now she'll have more reason than ever to suspect me of an affair with Steve. If only she had seen the doctor, too!"

Dale bid them a hasty good-bye and sprang back into the cab, bidding the chauffeur drive to the St. Francis.

Diana wondered if he were going to interview Dominguez again before the police got him.

Marjorie was fearfully polite when she and the doctor joined the box party.

Diana soon saw the reason. The admiral was still devoting his attention to Cynthia Borden.

Diana decided wisely to make no mention of the fact that Dale had missed his train and had driven with her to the theater. Things were not breaking well for Marjorie that night.

"I just saw Sylvia and Ted," she whispered, leaning forward to Marjorie. "I believe they're making up. Otherwise she wouldn't dare be seen with him, in view of her divorce case."

Marjorie shrugged without turning her head.

"Their affairs are no concern of mine."

Diana, feeling completely smothered, turned her attention to the stage, but the play soon bored her and she took refuge in her own thoughts.

What she asked herself for the thousandth time, was the mystery surrounding the Borden which involved Stephen Dale's family.

She was unaware of it. She had fearfully expected a scene of some sort when

DRESS BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE

The Capelet Is the Logical Successor of the Summer Fur as Worn by Well-dressed Women in France.

Paris—"But what else can I do?" protests a woman when some presumptuous husband, over-confident that it is the plea of the woman who has acquired the habit of wearing a peltry or two about her neck whenever she appears in town without cape. "So, she should have become to the fashion that she may not have noticed that it was of the wane."

In Paris, where the habit of wearing summer furs was even better established than in America, the natural successor to the small neck peltry is the small capelet. It has nothing to do with the weather or the temperature. It is worn either to match the frock or in separate material by those women who never feel well dressed in the street without something about the shoulders or the neck.

This capelet is really the answer to the question that is asked: "What to get away from the little fur neck-piece in summer?" It is exactly what clever French women have been doing all summer, and American women in France have taken to the fashion as eagerly as bees in honeysuckle.

Capes come in with colors flying in the spring, but the popular version is that one seen in America was the long cape, extending nearly to the hem. These capelets are quite another matter. They are straight and short and feather weight, though there is usually a ruff or roll of some sort at the back to spare women the discomfort they always seem to feel when going with the cape of the neck bare.

A variation of the capelet is shown in the sketch. It is of black crepe de chine and was worn with a beige frock. At the bottom is a narrow string belt that fastens below the hips, causing the cape to blouse emphatically at the back.

Whether this pronounced blousing at the back will be carried over into autumn and winter it is hard to tell. Some of the furriers have faith in it and are making fur wraps with black blouses that have the flares of the back below the hips. And a furrier works with too precious materials to permit snapping up fashions on the wing.

Women say they are tired of the bulging, shapeless back. They long for an opportunity to look like something besides a meal bag. The prediction is made that if new fashions are made to please women then the meal bag must go. If it is going then it is going with a bang. It seems to have no intention of slipping off into the shadows of past fashion quietly and submissively. In place of the shapeless back we find over and over again wraps made with backs fairly ballooning shapes. If the women whom Du Maurier reproduced in his drawings of the eighties came to life and went to Paris they would imagine that many of the women there were again wearing bustles, but that by mistake they had put them above the waist instead of below it.

This black crepe de chine cape is caught into narrow string belt and bloused around the waist.

fiancee of irrepressible brother asks in effect: "Why swathe your neck in fur in midsummer?"

"Of course it is hot and uncomfortable," she presented them to each other and instead, there had ensued only a polite conversational exchange. Except for the grave air which had settled on the doctor, they might have been merely two chance acquaintances meeting after a period of years.

How had Dale really taken the announcement of her intended marriage to the doctor, was the second question she asked herself? From his manner, it had made not the slightest difference in the world.

Could it be possible that he loved her when he showed no consternation at the mention of her proposed second marriage? Or was he so perfectly trained in his role of self-sacrifice that he would not show his hurt lest it hurt her in turn?

He was no dog in the manager, she thought! He was big enough and fine enough to want to see her and the doctor happy, knowing that he himself could never aspire to happiness.

In the gloom at the back of the box, Diana gave her hurt heart full solace and let a tear or two trickle unheeded down her cheeks.

Why did she have to be responsible for everybody's unhappiness?

When the lights flashed up for the entracte she reached hastily for her vanity case and brushed a powder puff guiltily across her cheeks.

She heard her name called softly and looked up to see Sylvia Saunders in an adjacent box. Ted was just vanishing through the draperies at the back.

Sylvia beckoned imperiously for Diana to join her.

Molasses Cake.
If three tart apples are chopped fine and added to molasses cake they will add greatly to the flavor and keep the cake moist.

Saves Mending.
If you sew on your hooks and eyes with a buttonhole stitch instead of just sewing over and over they will be on to stay.

Fried Trout.
The fish must, of course, be nicely cleaned and trimmed all round, but do not cut off their heads. Dredge them well with flour, and fry in a pan of boiling hot fat or oil. Turn them from side to side till they are nicely browned, and quite ready. Drain off all the fat before sending the fish to table; garnish them with a few sprigs of parsley, and provide plain melted butter. The frying will occupy from five to eight minutes, according to size. Very large trout can be cut in pieces.

Trout in Jelly.
Turn the fish into rings, with tail in mouth, prepare a seasoned water in which to boil the trout; the water should have a little vinegar and salt in it, and may be flavored with a shallot or clove or garlic. When the water is cold, place the trout in it, and boil them very gently, so as not to break them. When done, lift out and drain. Baste with aspic jelly, coat after coat, as each coat hardens. Arrange neatly, and serve.

Boiled Trout.
Let the water boil thoroughly before you put in the fish. See that it is salt, and that a dash of vinegar has been put in it. Remove all scum as it rises, and boil the fish till their eyes protrude, lift them without breaking, drain off the liquor, and serve on a napkin. Serve with anchovy or shrimp sauce.

Clean and split them open, season with a little salt and cayenne; dip in whipped egg, dredge with flour and broil over a clear fire. Serve with sauce.

White Sauces.
It is well to know that one tablespoonful of flour and one of fat to each cup of milk will make a successful thin white sauce. When thick sauce is desired use four tablespoonsful of flour and three of fat to each cup of milk.

HOW TO SAVE WHEN SHOPPING

By Ruth Leigh

Author of "The Human Side of Retail Selling," "The ABC of Retailing," Etc.

A great many inexperienced housewives think that in buying fruit for canning, they must use the same principles that are applied to the selection of fresh fruits for immediate eating. This is a mistaken idea. Take peaches, for example, a fruit that you are no doubt buying for canning at this time of year. When you buy fruit for this purpose avoid the very ripe fruits, or they will fall apart and prove generally unsuitable for your purpose. It is better to buy harder peaches. The best kinds for canning are the lemon and orange "cling" (clinging stones) and the variety of peach known as a "Crawford Freestone."

If you are buying pineapple for canning, choose those which are yellowish and which have smooth surfaces. Hawaiian pineapple is best for canning.

Plums chosen for canning can be of any variety, according to taste, but the important thing is not to get them too ripe. Be sure to get hard plums, or they will spoil quickly, even before you have a chance to can them. If you are going to can cherries, be sure that you choose fruit which is unblemished, and that has the stems left on. If they have the stems off when you buy them (of course, you remove the stems for canning), they will not keep well, and are likely to be moldy and to contain worms.

If you are going to choose pears for pickling you will want, of course, small Seckle pears. When you buy them be sure they are unblemished and are not too soft at the core.

Many housekeepers buy their season's linens at this time of year. Tomorrow will contain some suggestions on the subject.

THIRTY-FIVE BALES SOLD AT FITZGERALD

Fitzgerald, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Thirty-five bales of new cotton have been marketed here already this season, the largest number of bales received in any previous year. Reports from farmers are to the effect that recent rains have been injurious to the crop, and that boll weevils are vigorously attacking green bolls in the fields. Reports three weeks ago were to the effect that this year's crop would be almost normal, but later reports indicate that only half of a crop may be expected.

Corn, sweet potatoes and sugar cane are reported better than usual, with a large acreage in all of these commodities.

Mrs. Helen Plane Will Be Hostess At Atlanta Chapter House U. D. C.

Mrs. C. Helen Plane, who will act as the official hostess at the U. D. C. chapter house on Juniper street this fall. Mrs. Plane is one of the most prominent women identified with patriotic affairs in the South. She founded the Georgia division, U. D. C.

Mrs. C. Helen Plane, founder of the Georgia division, and of Atlanta chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and one of the most prominent and beloved women in the order, is to be official hostess at the clubhouse of Atlanta chapter, U. D. C. She takes charge of her new office at an early date.

With Mrs. Plane's acceptance of the office, the chapter house will take on a new and unique distinction, since it will have for presiding genius the woman who inspired the chapter as well as the state division and was one of the founders of the national organization, which represents at the same time the aristocracy of the South and its most democratic manifestation of patriotic feeling.

She was also one of the leading spirits in the founding of the Stone Mountain Memorial association, which has for its purpose the carving on Stone Mountain of the greatest monument of all times, this to perpetuate the memory of the glories of the confederacy.

Last March Atlanta chapter celebrated Mrs. Plane's 83d birthday with a reception, and every chapter in Georgia on the same day devoted their regular meeting to a program which was a tribute to Mrs. Plane.

The accompanying picture was taken on that day.

Mrs. Plane will be assisted in her new office by Mrs. William F. Plane.

ANSWERED LETTERS.

Freckles: The formula I give, which contains bay rum, lemon juice and water in equal parts, has been used quite often, but it should be used every time the face is cleaned, or every day, as you say your friend uses it. Constant applications of this bleach dry out the secretions and make the skin harsh with a tendency to fine lines; although a generous massage with cream would somewhat lessen this tendency.

It is well to understand the action of the different ingredients so they may be used as needed. For instance, lemon juice makes a good bleach, but since it is an acid it neutralizes the oil in the skin and irritates and dries it out (such as almonds) and through a cream or a plain oil application. Bay rum, while very cleansing, also dries out the secretions and it is too a highly stimulative and severe treatment for delicate skin. The juice from cucumbers makes an excellent bleach and when it is combined with a little cream, it is a most perfect combination for bleaching and also preserving the health, action of the pores. If you are for such a remedy, I will be glad to mail one to you on receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.

Ta Ta: A girl of 15 years, height 5 feet 4 inches, will be normal weight at 110 pounds.

Disguised: Cream is only used as a base for powder when the skin is very dry. A moist or oily skin should not require this precaution. If cream is needed it should be used sparingly and gently massaged into pores with fingertips, after which all surplus should be wiped off, as there will still be sufficient cream to hold the powder. If your skin is active, omit the cream before powdering, but be sure to remove all surface secretion before applying the powder if you would enjoy a delicate effect. There will always be enough oil in the pores to hold the powder.

An ointment in which there is sulphur, or a yeast cake made into a paste with water, will sometimes heal pimples, after the cause for them has been removed.

Of Lovely Ladies and Smiling Salesmen

Much has been said and written of the experiences that make life beautiful and happy. Music hath charms, and there are the thrills of "jocund morn" and "beauteous evening calm and free." But no grandeur of earth or sky, no appeal of nature or art speaks as directly to the heart as the personality, or spirit—call it what you will—of another human being.

We believe that nowhere may human nature be studied more advantageously than in a department store. It is interesting to watch the eagerness of salespeople to fill the needs of the customer who is straightforward and gracious. Charm is not a gown that may be put on or off at will. The word, charm, has never been adequately defined, but the quality itself is immediately sensed. Sometimes we think of it as a kind of aura that belongs to lovely ladies and that lingers behind to make happy memoirs.

So it may not be amiss to express our appreciations to the charming women who come to the department for rugs and draperies, who make the salesmen happy, and who leave behind them inspiring convictions that life is good and that human nature is glorious.

On the Screen of Sport

by Hugh Fullerton

Maybe everyone asks fool questions at times, and sometimes it seems to sport writers that our dullest questions are buried in our diction than in any other line of business. In Chicago, in the old all-night barroom days, the boys used to prevent me from sleeping by calling up at all hours of the night to have their bets decided. Which comes from writing stuff that starts barroom arguments. There isn't much satisfaction in answering their questions, because if you agree with their views you are great, and if you take the other end of it you are a hum for life.

Reminds me of one time years ago. There was a decision on the West Side park in Chicago which started an argument. The umpire was right, and there never was a doubt about it, but many of the fans thought he was wrong because it was against the home team. Going downtown a fan wanted to know, and I dodged, but finally told him the umpire was right. He got mad and wanted to bet; kept asking until I got irritated and told him I'd take his money. "Who will we leave it to?" I asked.

"Well, leave it to Fullerton," he said. I grinned and handed him my card. He studied it a minute, got fussed, and then said: "Well, say, I always thought until now that you knew something about baseball."

That's the way: the best a fellow gets is 50 per cent.

Putting in Rio Janeiro. Here is a fellow who wants a bet down in Rio de Janeiro and wants me to answer. The question is this: "In putting the shot, does a right-handed putter receive any impetus in the actual putting of the shot from his left foot?" The answer is that he does not. I have talked to three prominent shotputters, and they declared the left foot plays no part whatever in the shot. The moving part of the shotput in action back up their claim.

WILLIAMS HITS 26TH

St. Louis, July 31.—Kenneth Williams on the St. Louis Americans knocked his 26th home run of the season off Quinn in the seventh inning in the Red Sox game today. Williams now is only one homer behind Rogers Hornsby, of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is leading the major leagues with 27.

SARATOGA OPENS TODAY

Saratoga, N. Y., July 31.—The sports and sportsmen, stable boys, trainers, the idle rich and the idle poor, all the types and classes that follow the dust and glory of the hoof beats of thoroughbred horses, have moved into Saratoga as an army of occupation. They are awaiting the opening of the race meet, Tuesday, which gives indications of comparing with the great meetings of the old days of Saratoga's greatest fame.

The Saratoga handicap, a classic race for 3-year-olds and up at a mile and a quarter, will bring out the choice of the stable boys and trainers with Gray Lag, Mad Blatter and Exterminator facing the barrier among others. The meeting, occurring after a technical knockout, is the first of the season, and the Saratoga handicap, a classic race for 3-year-olds and up at a mile and a quarter, will bring out the choice of the stable boys and trainers with Gray Lag, Mad Blatter and Exterminator facing the barrier among others.

Technical K. O. Here comes Vince Fuller, from Jamaica. Yes, since "rowing the sponge into the ring" constitutes a technical knockout, the "rowing high jump record belongs to" Eddie Beeson, the California star. It is at 6 feet 7.5 inches, and he will still unless this Murphy boy or some dame cracks it.

Cobb and Spe. Come to think of it, questions may be foolish, but how can a sport writer know these things if he doesn't know the better player, Trixie Speaker, or Ty Cobb? Now, I've decided which one I like best. I like the one who is the best. In my opinion, however, Cobb is the best. I've never known—so that lets this out.

A Time at Bat. Funny, too, how many questions are sent in that can be answered in an instant out of the rule book. L. Rosenberg wants to know whether a batter gets a time at bat when he is safe at first on an error. Thought every fan knew that a time at bat is given to a batter who makes a hit and didn't do it.

A Wins. John Scott has had a hot argument with A. and for once A. wins. He wants to know whether Jack McAleer, who has records of 14.4 seconds for the 150 and 212.5 seconds for the 220 yards, will be a professional if he wrestled with professional wrestlers. John doesn't make his statement clearly, omitting to say whether Jack received money for such wrestling. B. (probably Scott) declares that he will not be professionalized. But regarding those times which are credited to McAleer, we'd like to see the three who held the watches.

Passing Babe. C. M. comes up with a fun y one. He wants our opinion as to whether it is good baseball to pass Babe Ruth and force in a run when the bases are full, and take a chance with a weak batter, or to make "im" hit. In our opinion, a better player, Trixie Speaker, or Ty Cobb? Now, I've decided which one I like best. I like the one who is the best. In my opinion, however, Cobb is the best. I've never known—so that lets this out.

Hit By Pitcher's Ball. Bill Oliver wants to know whether if a pitched ball hits a batter, then he is out, whether it is a ball or strike. Neither, B. The batter would get first for being hit. Then he asked if a batted ball hits the umpire, throwing to the third baseman, who bounds to first ahead of the runner, is he out or does he get a hit. Look 'em up in the book. Both answers are plainly covered.

Jack and Benny. D. Stein wants our opinion as to whether Jack Britt or Benny Leonard is the better defensive fighter. Jack is. And it is a gay life. I'm sure these fellows. There are forty other queries, any one of which can be found in the record books. (Copyright, 1932, by The Constitution.)

JOHNSON AND LEWIS SEND IN THEIR RESIGNATIONS
Memphis, Tenn., July 31.—Harry Johnson and "Connie" Lewis, Southern association umpires, were resigned and "Tex" Erwin, who was a member of last year's staff of umpires, has been signed to fill one of the vacancies. It was announced in league headquarters here today.

AMERICAN AND BRITON STRONG CONFIDERS
New York, July 31.—Miss Helen Wainwright, the American all-round swimming champion, and Miss Hilda James, the 17-year-old English girl who holds many English and continental records, are regarded as the strongest entrants in the international women's marathon race to be held in the Atlantic ocean off Manhattan Beach, Tuesday.

GIBSON MAN SHOOT COUNTY COMMISSIONER
Gibson, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—H. G. Sammons, county commissioner, was shot five times today by G. W. Johnson, of this place, three shots taking effect, two in the right arm, one in the breast. The wounds are not serious.

The Observation Post

By Mike Thomas

SAMMY SANDOW, who meets Tim O'Dowd in the 10-round main bout on the Legion fight card tonight, has had some interesting experiences in his long career. He is an interesting talker and one of his best stories is about his battle with Joe Lynch in New York for the championship of the world.

"We came right out to the center of the ring," said Sandow, "and I caught Joe with a left hook that sent him clear back to the ropes. 'Well, here is where I'm world's champion,' I thought, and I walked right in to stop him in the first round. In walking in, I stopped a right with my chin and went down. I took a count of nine and got up fighting. He hit me again and I took another count. When I got up I couldn't see a thing and I was fighting, swinging right and left, in the center of the ring, but Joe was away over in a neutral corner. Then he slipped up on me and clouted me another and I went down for keeps. The fight was all over in about a minute and there was nearly $70,000 in the house."

"Imagine how I felt after the fight was over, especially after thinking I was the world's champion after that first punch."

LOUIS MOST, who has managed more fighters than developed into fighters, than any other local manager, was Sandow's first manager. He picked Joe with a left hook that sent him clear back to the ropes. "Well, here is where I'm world's champion," I thought, and I walked right in to stop him in the first round. In walking in, I stopped a right with my chin and went down. I took a count of nine and got up fighting. He hit me again and I took another count. When I got up I couldn't see a thing and I was fighting, swinging right and left, in the center of the ring, but Joe was away over in a neutral corner. Then he slipped up on me and clouted me another and I went down for keeps. The fight was all over in about a minute and there was nearly $70,000 in the house."

LEONARD WILL WORK TODAY

Michigan City, Ind., July 31.—Benny Leonard did not work out here today. He was busy locating his mother and sister comfortably in a cottage on the Lake Michigan beach. He will begin his boxing workouts tomorrow.

The champion's right eye bears a nasty cut which was received in the Tiedler bout. The injury is healing rapidly although it will be tender next Saturday when he meets Ever Hammer in a ten-round bout.

Hammer goes on the road every morning at 5 o'clock and does the gloves every afternoon with his sparring partners.

South Atlantic League
King Ineffective. Spartanburg, S. C., July 31.—Charlotte hit King hard in the first and third innings of today's game and Spartanburg lost the first contest of the series 11 to 5. Four home runs, evenly divided by the two teams, featured.

Score by innings: R.H.E. Charlotte.....405 000 002-11 14 1 Spartanburg.....240 000 012-5 8 1 Batteries—Walters and Wendell; King Daniels and Weissner.

Warhop Weakens. Columbia, S. C., July 31.—Warhop weakened in the eighth after holding Charleston to one scratch hit up to that time, and the visitors won the first of the series from Columbia 5 to 2.

Score by innings: R.H.E. Charleston.....000 000 041-3 6 1 Columbia.....010 000 104-5 2 0 Batteries—Pipgrass, Morgan and Vonkoltz; Warhop and Warwick.

Twin Bill Split. Greenville, S. C., July 31.—Greenville and Augusta split a doubleheader here this afternoon, the Spinners battling out a 5-to-3 victory in the matinee and the Tigers coming in a ragged contest 7 to 1 in the nightcap. O'Neill's pitching, Boll's playing and catches by Lacey and Barbare featured the warping game.

FIRST GAME. R.H.E. Augusta.....040 001 100-3 8 0 Greenville.....400 010 100-5 1 1 Batteries—Clarke, Kiefer and Lefler; Scott and Damm.

SECOND GAME. R.H.E. Augusta.....151 000 0-7 30 2 Greenville.....100 000 0-1 2 0 Batteries—O'Neill and Lefler; Thompson, Padgett and Ithame, Brunson.

BASEBALL MART CLOSES

New York, July 31.—The baseball markets of Gotham and the Hub have closed a busy week. First, Harry Frazee, the well-known tradesman of the Red Sox, engaged in a game of barter with the owners of the Yankees and besides the unusual number of players exchanged, it was reported that Frazee got something to boot.

In the deal the Yankees got a third baseman—one Joe Dugan, considered by them and others as one of the best in the game. With him came Elmer Smith, heralded as a hitter of no mean ability and a fielder of some accomplishments.

To the Red Sox went Wilson Fester, best man to be used as third sacker; Mitchell, a young substitute shortstop; and outfielder Elmer Miller.

Another Trade. Then the National league tradesmen of Boston and New York got busy and—Hugh McQuillan—a young pitcher with great promise came to the Giants, who gave to the Braves a "substantial sum" said to be in figures; Fred Toney, a veteran with a great record; Larry Benton, a young pitcher sent to the Memphis club by the Indians; and Walter Houston, a left-handed pitcher sent from Middlebury college in Vermont.

In order to engineer the deal the Giants sent Cecil A. Causey, a relief pitcher to the Indians; and Walter Houston, a left-handed pitcher sent from Middlebury college in Vermont.

The Mexican government has decided to spend about $3,000,000 on an irrigation project to develop several million acres of arid land in Chihuahua, Durango and Coahuila.

BIG TOURNEY FOR NEWMAN

Juliette, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) Charles and Andy Gray, professionals of the Newman, Ga., golf club, will conduct a golf tournament on the Newman course Wednesday and Thursday, August 9-10.

Golfers from the clubs at LaGrange, West Point, Columbus, Thomaston, Barnstable and Forsyth have been invited. A qualifying round of 18 holes medal play will be staged Wednesday morning, followed in the afternoon by the first round of match play.

The second round and finals in all flights will be played Thursday morning. Prizes are offered for the winner and runner-up in each flight, also a prize for the low qualifier and a team prize for the four best players returning the low total score on the qualifying round.

The Newman links is a nine-hole course. There will be only six flights of eight men each, and 48 men with low scores will qualify for the match play.

MILSTEAD WINS OVER CONNERS; SCORE 3 TO 2

BY M. D. GLEASON. Milstead, Ga., July 30.—(Special.) Milstead won a well-played game from Connors here Saturday by the close score of 3 to 2.

There is great rivalry between these two towns, as they are less than three miles apart, and the large crowd at the game Saturday was from both places, and both to be urged to do their utmost at the time.

Four from the World's Fair team were in the game for Milstead and helped very materially to win the game for that town.

Hannah, first baseman for Milstead, made a sensational catch of a line drive that brought the stands to their feet.

Wally Smith played a great game at short and got the longest hit of the game, scoring a runner when a run was needed.

Barnhart, playing left field, accepted all chances and got a hit out of four times up. Doby White pitched the same brand of winning ball he has pitched all summer, only giving up six hits. Vandergriff caught

SOX FANS RAZZ YANKS

Chicago, July 31.—Chicago-Americans fans, whose hopes for a possible look in on part of the 1932 world's series recently have been bolstered by the White Sox's fight which has put them within four and a half games of first place, are "razzing" the former Boston players whose recent acquisition by New York was expected to strengthen that club in its pennant bid. In yesterday's game, when the Sox pulled the Yankees back into second place, Joe Dugan came in for a great amount of booing.

When Joe made a two-base wild throw in the fourth, one bug with a megaphone and healthy lungs yelled: "Hey, Joe, you can't do that in the big league; better watch out or the Colonels will send you back to the second team."

The poet has shown exceptional promise, according to O'Brien, who has him in charge. Ranzky, an excellent physical condition, he already is aiming to meet the best of the preliminary fighters, O'Brien says.

LEONARD ARRIVES TO FINISH TRAINING

MERCER ALUMNI WILL MEET AT BIG DINNER

Mercer University alumni, of Atlanta and those in the general assembly will enjoy an evening of fellowship at the Capital City club, Thursday evening.

The banquet will begin at 7 o'clock. The committee has arranged for a delightful menu and plenty of fans to keep the breezes stirring. Frank A. Hooper will be toast master.

Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, graduate at Mercer in the class of 1892, will be one of the principal speakers. Dr. M. L. Brittain, president elect of Tech, an honorary graduate of Mercer, will be another speaker. Judge R. C. Bell, recently appointed to the court of appeals, will be one of the speakers. Dr. J. E. Sellers, dean of Oglethorpe university and for twenty-five years a professor at Mercer, also will speak.

There will be informal addresses from a number of men but no speech will be more eagerly awaited than that of Coach Josh Cody of Mercer. The big Vanderbilt athlete, who is working steadily ahead with a real program of athletics for Mercer, will come up for the evening and tell "the boys" of his plans.

Every Mercer man in Atlanta is urged to be present and to notify Louis D. Newton or Carlton W. Binn of their desire for the reservation of a plate.

HUNT TO BE IN RACE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

WHEAT DECLINES TO SEASON'S LOW

Chicago, July 31.—More than 1,100 carloads of wheat arrived today and the market dropped to new low price records for the season. The close was unsettled at a net decline of 17-8 to 51-2 cents, the latter for July and September 105-3-4 to 105-7-8 and December 107-7-8 to 108. Corn sold 7-8 to 11-8, oats 11-5 to 11-4 and provisions 5 to 30 cents.

In addition to the big receipts which were finally announced as 1,142 cars, a sharp setback in Liverpool quotations did much to force the wheat market here to go forward and to show but slight power to rally. Hedging sales of the new crop were the heaviest yet witnessed and there also was swelling pressure on foreign accounts.

Some authorities expressed an opinion that after today's big receipts, the crop movement would slacken, arrivals today having been crowded forward in hope of getting the benefit of a month-end dip in prices. Related liquidation was the feature of the day's trading in July. Decided increase of the United States visible supply total, together with harvest progress in the northwest and the prospective settlement of the railroad strike were in most quarters regarded as bullish factors in the market, taken as a whole.

Corn and oats descended with wheat and as a result of private crop reports, September corn touched the lowest price so far as the 1922 crop. In the provision market, the weakness of grain was of more influence than higher quotations on hogs.

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.
The following were ruling quotations on the grain exchange, July 31, 1922.

WALL STREET PRESIDENTS GATHER

Transportation Stocks
Make New High Record;
Steels Also Go Upward

BY R. L. BARNUM

Constitution's Financial Correspondent.

New York, July 31.—Railroad shares made a new high record for the year today. Railway equipment stocks also were strong. The steel, United States Steel making a new high for this movement.

Some twenty-five railroad presidents held a preliminary meeting up at the Metropolitan club today to discuss the best way to handle tomorrow's big meeting when 148 presidents will gather here to decide whether or not to accept President Harding's urgent call that the shippers' strike be settled. Representatives of the shippers will also hold their meeting at Chicago tomorrow to make the same decision. Until these meetings are held the terms proposed by President Harding will not be made public. Wall Street understands, however, that President Harding proposes that the striking shippers be taken back with their old seniority rights restored but which will be below those for the men who remained loyal and stayed on their jobs but above the new men recently taken on.

Private Washington wires report that the administration is confident that both the presidents and the shippers will accept. Some of the presidents now here are still declaring that they will not restore the seniority rights of the strikers. These railway presidents say that the optimistic reports being sent out from Washington are propaganda to get them in bad with the public if they maintain their present position.

Low Supplies of Coal.

It was understood here today that Cleveland, Dallas and Philadelphia had only a ten-day's supply of coal. Directors of Studebaker gave a surprise today by declaring a regular quarterly dividend of 2-1/2 per cent and an extra payment of 1-1/2. That is more than Wall Street expected. Both payments will be made September 1 to shareholders of record August 10. The belief here is that the price will hold around its present level until the stock sells ex-dividend on August 10. To get the dividend the stock must be held until that date.

Studebaker's stock Saturday at 130 against 129 1/2, the high for the year, the decline being on rumors that today's dividend action would be confined to the regular 1-3/4 per cent quarterly payment and an extra of $3 to $5. Today's opening price was 131 1/4, after which there was an advance to 134 1/4, followed by a decline to 132 1/4 on the announcement of the dividend news. Then there was a recovery.

A shipment of 73 boxes of gold arrived here today from London on the Baltic, valued at $2,300,000. This gold was from the British government to pay interest on its debt. It was sent to J. P. Morgan & Co.

A director here of Montgomery Ward says that the company for the first six months of 1922 reported net profits of from $1,400,000 to $1,600,000. For the first half of 1921 there was a loss of $2,500,000. Returns of 63 railroads reporting so far for June show gross of $339,868,000, an increase compared with the same period of last year of $9,040,000, or 3 1/4 per cent. This is decidedly encouraging, as so far this year gross earnings have been running behind.

MOVIES

Forsyth Theater—All week. Forsyth Play in "The Brat."

Howard Theater—All week. Jack Holt in "While Satan Sleeps," and other screen features.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Five entertaining vaudeville acts, with plenty of music and comedy, make up the program for the first half of the week at Loew's Grand theater. The show is opened by Arch and Veda, a nimble pair of dancers, who introduce a popular "kid" character act, "Back to School Days," and has many bright lines. Robb and Whitman are the artists presenting this novelty. In the No.

Alamo Theater—Tuesday and Wednesday. The Fairbanks Sisters in "The Beauty Shop," and other screen features.

Strand Theater—All week. Will Rogers in "Doubting for Home," and other screen features.

Alamo No. 2—Tuesday. T. Roy Barnes in "A Matrimonial Failure," and other screen features.

Alpha Theater—Tuesday. Art Acord in "Go Get 'Em Gates."

Metropolitan Theater—All week. Viola Dana in "Seeing a Believing."

Criterion Theater—All week. Mae Murray in "The Delicious Little Devil," and other screen features.

3 spot is the one-act comedy playlet, "Boy Wanted," offered by James Kennedy and company. James Kennedy in the part of an aged lawyer, introduces a whimsical character that is appealing, and the balance of the company are competent in pleasing roles.

Other acts are Harry Meehan, the tramp comedian, who, with stories and antics, made good from the start, and Stanley, Tripp and Mowatt, jugglers of hats and clubs, an act which is a real novelty.

The feature of the screen bill is Earle Williams in "Bring Him In," a story of the Canadian northwest.

NINTH WARD BACKS

"KNIGHT AND MEIXELL"

Organization of the Ninth Ward Civic association, with the announced purpose of promoting civic betterment for the entire ward, was completed Monday night at a mass meeting held at Highland school.

Following election of officers to serve for one year, the association nominated C. D. Knight, as its candidate for councilman in the approaching primary, and also decided to back the candidacy of A. C. Meixell, school commissioner, for reelection.

George W. West was named president. Other officers elected were: Attorney E. R. Craighead, vice president and C. M. Zattau, secretary and treasurer.

Five executive committees were appointed by President West as follows: Arthur L. Brooke, Ben R. Padgett, William Ahlgren, Simon Friest and Press Huddleston. Each committee was authorized to select another man to serve on the committee. Date for the next meeting of the association has not been announced.

PRIMARIES TODAY

IN FOUR STATES

C. McKinley, of Unionville, who has been conducting his campaign by mail, represent the progressive side. E. R. Brewster, of Kansas City, has the support of the regular republican organization.

William Sacks, reputed millionaire oil man, is in the race on a light wine and beer platform, a program that is also endorsed by Colonel John H. Parker, a soldier candidate.

Congressional candidates will be selected in each of the 16 districts. All present incumbents, except Representative Samuel A. Shelton, republican, are seeking re-election.

Four women are in the race for congress.

CLOSE RACE

IN KANSAS

Topeka, Kas., July 31.—The eve of Kansas, eighth primary election finds little enlightenment in the enigma of what the morrow will bring forth; an enigma, political wiseacres say, that is the most uncertain since the primary law has been in effect. The majority of these put the three best prospects for the republican gubernatorial race in this order:

W. Y. Morgan, C. I. Lambertson, Former Governor Stubbs.

But the political prophet adds:

"I wouldn't wager a dime on the outcome."

The possible strength of any of these three, each claiming advantage over the others and that of Tom McNeill, with his state-wide acquaintance formed through his position as editor of a farm publication and that of Fred W. Knapp, who has endorsement of the labor unions and other organizations, cannot be overlooked.

Mrs. W. D. McMorre, has announced herself in favor of so perfecting the industrial court that it will serve with "equal justice to the laborer, the employer, and the public."

Miss Helen Pettigrew, the other woman candidate for governor, wants the law repealed.

In the democratic race for the nomination for governor, Colonel Leigh J. Hunt, Kansas City construction engineer, and ex-service man, is generally believed to have a lead over Jonathan Davis, with Henderson S. Merwin, of Lawrence, a third choice.

In the congressional contest, five of the eight Kansas congressmen are

Minna Gombel Is Charming

In Role of Street Waif

"The Brat," presented by the Forsyth players Monday night, is a one-part comedy of three acts, with a wealth of pathos interspersed between the laughs, that g. Minna Gombel her first real opportunity in Atlanta since "Polly With a Past."

She showed her real capabilities when she assumed practically the entire burden of the play, worked with an elfin whimsicality one minute and then fairly wrung hearts the next, and did each as artistically and as charmingly as one wishes to witness.

She is a street waif, picked up by a literary man for character dissection in a best seller of that awful brand so popular nowadays like "Main Street" and "If Winter Comes." Naturally she has her heart broken by the character analyst, but in the meantime she finds time to rescue a brand from the alcoholic burning, falls in love with him, and marries him.

There isn't a lot of plot to the play, but the lines are clever and the philosophy of "The Brat" amusing and sound, and it all furnishes an excellent vehicle for a display of Miss Gombel's talents and charms.

Notable work in her support was done by John Littel, the rescued brand, whose revelries with Franklin Munnell in the first act constituted a splendid piece of stage work; Romaine Calder, who did the thankless part of the character dissection with the same fine style and finish that has marked his every performance; and John Littel, who, among the American people that to a material and growing extent they might be classed as comforts and, in some instances, necessities.

Asserting that the "growing shadows" on American economic progress was the hostility between capital and labor, Senator Sheppard declared it was unfortunate that "at this critical hour, the party in control of government should lash the troubled waters into further fury by the imposition of the most progressive tariff taxes in American annals, taxes which, in this silk scheduled, buttress monopoly and invite extortion, taxes which reveal this government as the instrument of privilege, no longer the example of equal opportunity, taxes which will do much to undermine the spirit behind the economic structure that brings to the American citizen more of the enjoyments, satisfaction, substantial, safeguards and even luxuries of life than has yet been realized in this or any other land."

FORDNEY TARIFF BILL

MAY BE SHELVED

Mr. Davis conducted a vigorous campaign over the state on his record as governor, while Senator Swanson, standing on his record in the senate, and not taking any active part in the campaign, Oklahoma's three-cornered democratic gubernatorial primary campaign closed tonight with the voters ready to go to the polls tomorrow.

Overhauling the alleged klan issue in importance, according to many observers, was the candidacy of C. Walton, farmer-labor candidate for democratic nomination, for the mayors of Oklahoma City.

He has been endorsed by the farmer-labor and reconstruction leagues in Oklahoma and has espoused public ownership of a number of utilities, state aid for farmers, and the Plumb plan for government control of railroads.

Walton's campaign has attracted widespread attention in the gubernatorial race between him, Thomas H. Owen, former justice of the state supreme court, and R. H. Wilson, superintendent of the state board of education.

Mr. Wilson had taken given the endorsement in states purporting to have been issued by the Ku Klux Klan, but today the official publication of the organization printed an editorial denying that the klan, as an organization, was backing any candidate. It branded as "a malicious falsehood" rumors that the klan will vote as a unit under the dictation of officials.

A total of a quarter-million to 275,000 ballots, it was expected, will be cast by the voters of the three parties entered, democratic, republican and socialist, it was estimated tonight by officials of the state election board. The board has sent out 550,000 ballots.

These officials predicted women would cast 25 per cent of the total vote. It will be the first time women of Oklahoma have been a voice in selecting state officers.

Next in general interest, are the campaigns of Miss Alice Robertson, Muscogee, and Manuel Herriek, of Muskogee, for reelection to congress in their respective districts. Both Miss Robertson and Mr. Herriek are republicans and members of the present congress.

SENATE PRIMARY

IN VIRGINIA

Richmond, Va., July 31.—Tonight brought to a close one of the hardest fought senatorial campaigns Virginia has experienced in years. Both candidates, Senator Claude A. Swanson

On page 249 of the senate rules it is found that the bill which deals with the property of members of congress voting for legislation in which they may be interested. The senate analogue rule is stated in a footnote, is rule 12.

Here is what Jefferson says:

"When the private interests of a member are concerned in a bill or question he is to withdraw from the floor such an interest has appeared, his voice has been disallowed even after discussion. In a case so contrary not only to the laws of decency, but to the fundamental principles of the social compact which denies to any man to be a judge in his own cause, it is for the honor of the house that this rule of immemorial observance should be strictly adhered to."

DEBATE IS OVER

ON WOOL DUTIES.

Washington, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Consideration of the wool schedule, which has furnished the one big fight in the administration tariff bill, was completed today by the senate after the approval without change of imposts proposed by the finance committee's report on blankets, wearing apparel and floor coverings. The silk schedule then was taken up.

After the silk schedule will come the dealing with paper, books and sundries including hides and laces, the free list and the administration with the tariff plan proposed by President Harding.

When the senate winds up work on these, it must go back over the bill for action on amendments.

Republicans Confident.

There still was divided opinion today as to when a final vote would be had, but republican leaders were unanimous in declaring that the measure would pass the bill. Taking cognizance of a report published in Washington that the senate would abandon the measure, Senator Lodge majority leader, said:

"This bill is to be passed by the senate and that at the first opportunity. We are going to stick to it and pass it as soon as we can get a vote."

As was the case Saturday, the senate had difficulty today in keeping a quorum. After a quorum had been obtained, Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, said he understood that the order about absentees was to stand for the remainder of the present legislative day—now three months old—if that day lasted until March 4. Later telegrams were sent to absent senators urging their presence.

Split in G. O. P.

While the split in the republican ranks was noticeable, there was only one controversy today over wool duties, some republicans and most democrats voting against the duties on clothing. Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, in charge of the schedule, said, and Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, conducting the fight for the minority, agreed that only novices were imported; that the American ready-made clothing industry could compete with the world.

Senator Walsh argued, however, the duties were an invitation to domestic manufacturers to combine and increase their prices to the level of the tariff.

Senator Smoot told the senate that the duties would affect largely those Americans who sought "to ape the English style by wearing only clothes made in London." He said it was there were Americans who desired "to ape the Prince of Wales, wearing baggy trousers when he wears them."

Opening debate on the silk schedule,

Leaders of Mob

At Herrin Known

Says Association

Herrin, Ill., July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—The National coal association in a statement issued tonight announcing completion of a investigation into the massacre at the Herrin massacre, declared that the leaders of the mob were known and that at least 500 members of the mob were arrested. The investigation, General Brandage, of Illinois, gives the word.

The association is laying "its evidence" before the governor of Illinois, the statement adds.

"Particular emphasis should be laid on the point that survivors of the massacre are able to point out the official of the United Mine Workers of America who gave the word to take the unarmed prisoners off the road into the woods and shoot them down in the manner of an army squad executing spies or traitors," says the announcement.

The statement adds:

"The national coal association supports the contention of the Illinois attorney general that the massacre was a result of a well laid conspiracy and that the riot was not spontaneous. The report deals comprehensively with such matters as the military machine and the mob, the true pledges assumed jointly by the sheriff and the ranking coal official of the United Mine Workers."

"Lewis telegraphed instructions to treat the members of the steamboiler men's union as an outlaw organization and common strike-breakers" was followed on Sunday by a mass meeting, the attack on the mine and the massacre."

The statement announces that the investigation corroborated the charge of barbarous treatment of wounded" as reported by press association and newspapers and declared that some of the men were found to have been branded.

DISASTROUS FIRE

IN CHINESE CITY

Hong Kong, July 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—The most disastrous fire that has swept the European business quarters in Hong Kong in many years broke out tonight and still burning freely. Among the buildings badly damaged is the Carleton hotel, on Icehouse road, the only American hotel in the city.

The Grand hotel, on Queen's road, also suffered considerably, while several other buildings have been destroyed. The fire is threatening Mission house, only a few blocks from Government house, in the heart of the city.

BEAT NEGRO WORKMAN

IN STRIKE DISORDER

Columbus, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—The first disorder in connection with the railroad shop strike in Columbus since the strike began, occurred tonight, when a party of negroes on their way to work at the Central of Georgia railway roundhouse were attacked by a party of men who had been striking boilermakers and machinists. Will Woolfolk, a negro but 45 years old, who for the past few years has been employed as a helper at the roundhouse, was beaten up, his principal injury being a scalp laceration when he was struck with a stick. The other negroes fled. Warrants were issued this afternoon against seven white men alleged to have been the men who made the attack.

Reports from the city hospital tonight are that James H. Farish, well-known cotton warehouseman, who was shot Saturday by C. Bentley, cotton grader, will probably be there for several days yet. His wound is healing and his recovery is regarded as assured. Bentley is still held in jail and the grand jury will pass on his case next week.

On account of inactivity in cotton, Messrs. Farish had notified Bentley that his services would no longer be needed. Relations had continued friendly and when Bentley appeared with his pistol and attacked the three brothers they were very much surprised.

On the hearing this afternoon of a habeas corpus petition brought before Judge G. Y. Tigner, by the city court, against C. A. Gibson by L. C. Macon, through his attorneys, in which plaintiff alleged that he was being illegally restrained of his liberty by being held under arrest, Judge Tigner directed that he be released from jail.

According to Mr. Macon's petition in the case he was arrested by Marshal Gibson under process from the municipal court upon the petition of Mrs. Maud E. Macon and the affidavit of Mrs. Mamie Peters, his wife and mother-in-law, respectively. It claimed that Mrs. Macon and Mrs. Peters were about to institute suit on bail trover for recovery of certain personal property in the possession of Macon.

BUSINESS BOOMING

DESPITE STRIKES

Washington, July 31.—Business and industrial activity has reached a relatively high momentum, despite the coal and rail strikes, treasury officials declare. But, they say, business would be still further stimulated by complete recovery except for the industrial tie-ups.

According to the federal reserve board, during the last month, production has shown further increases in some lines, "while in those which normally would be noticeably affected by industrial tie-ups, the picture is not so clear."

The labor difficulties have restrained production principally in iron and steel, the board has reported, but the coal distribution plans of the administration together with its efforts to end both the mine and railroad controversies are expected to relieve the situation.

Further reduction in unemployment has been reported, with a scarcity of labor noted in many districts. "Unemployment remained a factor only in those lines, such as textiles, coal and transportation, in which labor difficulties exist," according to the board.

"Agricultural prospects are still very satisfactory for the country as a whole," the board has stated. "The considerable deterioration in the conditions of wheat and oats."

"Reflecting this movement, debits to the agricultural account, which are a fair index of volume of business, were considerably higher in June than in May, although they showed some decrease in July. The index of prices has continued their upward tendency, the index number of the federal reserve board for June being 222, and for July 224.4 points over the May figure, further increases being indicated for July."

SECOND OBENCHAIN

JURY STILL SPLIT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 31.—With good luck and a bath, the jury in the trial of Madeline Obenchain who is charged with persuading Arthur C. Hatch, her husband, to murder her sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy, may yet be able to reach a verdict, members of the jury reported to Judge Schenck late Monday. Foreman Fudlock again said they were called into court and a poll taken.

The jury has broken all California records, having been out more than 18 hours, with every willingness to carry on.

The jury reported that it now stands seven to five, but whether for acquittal or conviction was not stated. Foreman Fudlock refused to pass an opinion one way or the other.

Judge Schenck, on behalf of the other members, asked the court to arrange that the jury be permitted to have a bath. The court has agreed to allow the jury to have a bath on Saturday night. The judge declared baths would be arranged.

CAL HAWKES RELEASED

AFTER MURDER TRIAL

Athens, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Cal Hawkes, Oconee county white man, was acquitted Monday after being tried for murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Halse, George Lowe and Aaron Birdson, negroes. The jury was out about 30 minutes and returned its verdict, while the jury for the trial of Hamp Dooley, another white man was being struck, indicted for the same crime.

When the verdict was read, Solicitor W. O. Dean is said to have thrown up his hands and exclaimed, "We're through," and asked the court to not press the cases against Hamp Dooley and Jim Dooley.

Attorney John B. Gumble then testified that Hamp Dooley be tried, declaring that "Mr. Dooley proclaims his innocence and wants a trial and acquittal." However, the two cases were not pressed.

The trial of Cal Hawkes consumed only a few hours. The defense, represented by Attorney Gumble, James J. Strickland, James W. Arnold and Wolster M. Smith, put up twelve witnesses to prove an alibi for Mr. Hawkes.

Sam Jones Revival

Draws Great Crowds

To Closing Sessions

Cartersville, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Carterville was crowded Sunday and Monday evening by visitors attending the three closing services of the revival at the Sam Jones tabernacle, which has been conducted by Bishop C. H. Jones, of Belk, of Atlanta, for the past ten days. The large tabernacle, seating 3,200 people, was taxed at all three services. Bishop Jones preached two very fine sermons, one at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. His text was Luke xiii: 24-35. At 3 o'clock his subject was the "virgins."

Dr. Belk had charge of the closing services at 7:30 o'clock, and at this service he, with the assistance of the local tabernacle committee, began a movement to raise money to make many repairs on the tabernacle, and put it in perfect condition.

As has been thirty-five years since Rev. Sam Jones erected this tabernacle building, it has come to need many repairs and improvements. Several hundred dollars was raised in a few minutes, and much more will be raised at a later date.

Dr. Belk then delivered the closing sermon of the meeting.

During the meeting people from all over the state have visited Cartersville.

BOND ENTERS RACE

FOR APPEALS COURT

Toccoa, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Hon. Claude B. Bond, of the Georgia bar, will probably enter the race for the court of appeals for the term to succeed Judge H. H. Hill. Mr. Bond is a resident of the University of Georgia, and of the Harvard Law school, and has recently finished a term as United States marshal for the northern district of Georgia, having been appointed to that place by President Wilson.

Mr. Bond is being strongly endorsed by the bar of north Georgia who point out that neither of the Georgia appellate courts have a member north of Atlanta, and they feel that Mr. Bond is qualified for the place, and that the northern section of the state is entitled to recognition.

FOUR SEEK ELECTION

FROM FLOYD COUNTY

Rome, Ga., July 31.—(Special.)—Four candidates have qualified for the house of representatives from Floyd county for the democratic primary, as follows: Lee J. Langley, Judge E. P. Treadaway, R. H. Copeland and J. Scott Davis.

Monday was the last day for candidates to qualify.

John Camp Davis is the only candidate for the state senate, and he probably will be unopposed. It is Floyd's time to furnish the senator from the forty-second district. He at present is a member of the house of representatives and chairman of judiciary committee No. 2.

Women are forbidden to knit while attending court in England.

KEY AND BEAVERS ASK NEW OFFICES

City politics Monday took on a decidedly lively turn, and discussion was widespread following the announcement of Chief of Police James L. Beavers, for mayor of Atlanta, and that of Mayor Key for congress from this district.

Neither of the candidates would issue a formal statement of their platforms at this time, both declaring they would do so within the next few days. It is expected that Chief Beavers' platform will contain planks along lines of law enforcement. He will not resign from his present position to make the race.

Chief Beavers' entry into the mayoralty race divides interest in that contest at present between five avowed candidates. They are Chief Beavers, Councilman J. K. Nutting, Councilman Walter A. Sims, Dr. John C. Sealed Bids Will Be Received Until 8 O'clock P. M., on Tuesday, August 8, 1922, for $10,000 City Bonds.

Three in Congress Race. Mayor Key's entry makes a total of three candidates for the office of representative in congress from the fifth district, now held by Representative W. D. Upham, who has announced his candidacy for re-election. The third candidate is R. O. Cochran, of Fairburn.

In announcing for the office of mayor, Chief Beavers asserted that he is in the race to the finish and that he expects to be elected.

"I have decided to become a candidate for mayor," the chief said, "and will remain in the race until the finish. I have nothing to say just now as to my platform other than I am opposed to public officials trading in offices which they control."

"I just want my candidacy for mayor announced—without any hurrah about it. Everybody in Atlanta knows me, or my record, and I am perfectly satisfied that they judge me from it."

Mayor Key, in announcing for congress declared that he had considered the matter for several weeks and finally had decided to enter the race at the instigation of many friends who had urged him to offer for election. He declared he would issue a formal statement this week, outlining his campaign policies.

Key's Statement. "After carefully considering my qualifications," the mayor stated, "and at the instigation of so many of my friends, I could hardly refuse to enter the race. My record, since entering politics in Atlanta, will speak for my policies. I can stand on my record."

Mayor Key has served two terms as chief executive of the city of Atlanta. Prior to his election as mayor in 1918 the mayor was engaged in the practice of law here.

Chief Beavers has been connected with the Atlanta police department for 23 years. In 1909 he was promoted from patrolman to sergeant, and two years later was made captain. In August, 1911 he was appointed chief. With the exception of a few years when he was ousted as the result of a political fight, it is alleged, he has been at the head of the local police department ever since.

The chief was born 15 miles from Atlanta 50 years ago, in Clayton county, and came to Atlanta in 1887, where he has resided ever since. He resides at 19 Decker street. Chief Beavers broke into the limelight years ago when, acting on his own initiative, without consulting the mayor or police commission, he closed the red light district here.

This precipitated a storm of criticism on the chief's head from his enemies and resulted in the creation of two distinct political factions—the Beavers and anti-Beavers factions.

Police Chief Ousted. The anti-Beavers faction which composed the police commission, finally succeeded in ousting the chief and he remained out of office for approximately two years, finally winning his case in courts and was re-installed.

Another development in the congressional race in this district Monday was the announcement of L. J. Steele, of Decatur, prominent attorney, who recently intimated that he might become a candidate for congress, that he would not enter the race.

"I feel deeply grateful for the solicitation of a number of my friends to make the race for congress and I regret exceedingly that I cannot comply with their request. To make the race for congress at this time would necessitate a neglect of my business, of which I am not in a position to do. I sincerely thank my many friends for their kind expression of support."

Improved Business. Fitzgerald, Ga., July 31.—(Special.) Business in this section shows decided improvement, especially indicated by the large number of popular priced automobiles being sold in the market. Dealers in the cheaper cars have been unable to supply the demand of late and a number of the medium-priced have also been delivered the past month.

Dealers in dry goods and clothing are also reporting business on the upswing, with prospects of a very good fall trade.
